Heathman Handed Over To Vancouver Police

Publisher Defends Actions

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Sun publisher Donald Cromie yesterday defended the actions of his newspaper in obtaining and publishing Charles Heathman's confession of murder, giving the confessor 12 hours before notifying authorities.

Mr. Cromie, whose newspaper broke the confession story last Saturday, said the man was in effect "seeking both a public confession in his own words and a public trial and verdict and he has had all and he is now reconciled to stand by them."

'Shocking Taste' —Bonner

Attorney General Bonner last night called Mr. Cromie's statement "highly contrived nonsense which has only one redeeming feature, which is that he has accepted responsibility for the shocking bad taste and carelessness which accompanied publication of this so-called statement."

"The plain fact is that the Vancouver Sun failed to think through the problem presented by the Heathman statement, and what was worse, failed to show any consideration for the position of public officials who must now clean up the mess."

Victoria Man Seeks Reward Fears Grudge

A Victoria man who was instrumental in the capture of Charles Heathman in Seattle said last night he hopes to collect the $1,000 reward money but is fearful of the consequences of his action.

Robert John McMichael, a 35-year-old radar technician who recently returned to Victoria after working on a DEW-Line job, told the Colonist from Seattle he asked police not to use his name.

"If this Heathman ever gets out ... he's a guy that carries a grudge. That's why I wanted it kept quiet," he said.

Mr. McMichael said, however, he plans to go to Vancouver today to claim the reward of $1,000 offered by a radio station for information leading to the arrest of 39-year-old Heathman.

"Heathman would still be at large today unless I'd pointed him out," said Mr. McMichael. "So I guess that puts me in line for the reward."

Mr. McMichael said he entered a Seattle tavern Monday and was greeted by a friend who asked: "When did you get down here from Canada?" Immediately a man seated nearby put down his beer and hurriedly left the tavern.

"I got a good look at him and I knew it was Heathman because I saw his picture in a newspaper," said Mr. McMichael.

Mr. McMichael and his friend followed until the man entered another tavern about a block-and-a-half away, then they told their story to the patrolman on the beat.

Mr. McMichael is visiting Seattle to attend the world's fair. His parents live at 1269 Tattersall Drive.

Dead Boy's Mother Starts Trial Petition

VERNON (CP)—The mother of Donald Ottley Tuesday began a campaign to have Charles Heathman brought to trial again for the murder of the 10-year-old boy he now admits killing two years ago.

Heathman, now held by police in Vancouver, was twice sentenced to be hanged for murder

but finally freed by the B.C. Court of Appeal last December. Mrs. Ada Oliver and friends have begun a house-to-house canvass to collect names on a petition asking authorities for a new trial for Heathman.

Mrs. Oliver said she was always convinced of Heathman's guilt despite his acquittal.

30-Storey Apartment Planned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plans have been submitted to the city for a 30-storey apartment block in Vancouver's central West End area. The building would be Canada's tallest west of Toronto. The $3,000,000 structure would incorporate 268 suites, an enclosed swimming pool and covered parking.

A-Tests in Pacific Get Go-Ahead Sign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Tuesday gave the final okay for a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere. The shots are expected to begin in the Pacific within a few days, perhaps less.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced the tests will begin "as soon as is operationally feasible."

This means, a commission spokesman said, that the first explosion may be touched off in one to several days depending on the weather and other conditions.

BIG TASK FORCE

The test series will be carried out by a 12,000-man task force which has been assembled with a fleet of ships and planes.

At some time during the two or three months of the trials there will be proof tests of fully armed nuclear weapons, including intercontinental ballistic missiles and Polaris rockets launched from submarines.

10-MEGATON RANGE

The biggest blast is expected to be in the 10-megaton range, equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of TNT. This would be considerably smaller than the 50-megaton device the Russians were reported to have exploded in their Arctic tests last fall.

The initial explosions probably will be low altitude shots and are likely to be conducted in the Christmas Island area, followed by high altitude tests in the Johnston Island area in May.

Russian announced March 2 that the United States would have to resume atmospheric testing toward the end of April unless the Russians agreed to a fully safeguarded ban on nuclear testing.

The Soviets have threatened to start another series of tests of their own if the United States goes ahead with the Pacific trials.

WILL HOLD GOOD

Administration officials stress that Kennedy's offer to join in a foolproof pact against testing will hold good until the last minute.

The Atomic Energy Commission statement said: "The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that President Kennedy has authorized the commission and the department of defence to proceed with a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere over the Pacific."

"The tests, to be conducted by joint Task Force 8 under the command of Maj.-Gen. A. D. Starbird, will begin as soon as is operationally feasible."

Kennedy Right About Summit Nikita Agrees

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV
... policy switch

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. publisher said Tuesday night Premier Khrushchev has reversed his policy on a summit meeting with President Kennedy and now agrees the two should meet again only if there is prior agreement on crucial issues or if war threatens.

Khrushchev disclosed his stand last Friday in an interview at the Kremlin with Gardner Cowles, president and editor of Look magazine and president of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company.

In the discussion, the 66-year-old Russian leader expressed hope that major warfare could be avoided.

But he voiced support for what he called defensive and national-liberation wars. And he made it clear he had little expectation of any quick world disarmament agreement.

FIRST MEETING
Khrushchev told Cowles that he had gained a "favorable impression" from the American president when he met him in the first personal encounter in Vienna last June.

Khrushchev gave his appraisal of the meeting when Cowles asked if he thought would be useful "if a summit meeting were held in the near future or if you, for example, invited President Kennedy to the Soviet Union to discuss matters with him?"

Noting that he always believed such contacts are useful, Khrushchev replied:

"The conversations I had with your president in Vienna left a favorable impression on me."

"The main thing now is — and I agree with the president of the United States in this respect — that our meeting should not prove sterile."

Seamen Desert Again

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Two British seamen literally jumped ship here Tuesday.

A Canadian customs official, J. S. Moore, identified the men as Allen Oxberry, 31, a deckhand, and Ian Kelly, 21, a second cook.

IN CUSTODY
Moore took Kelly into custody as he landed on a pier off the deck of the British freighter Kirriamoor and then took into custody Oxberry, who had leaped the ships railing into the water.

After the two leaped the ship kept going.

NO FUN
Moore said they had first jumped ship two weeks ago in New Westminster, B.C.

A Humboldt County sheriff's spokesman said the men told him they didn't want to go with the Kirriamoor because she was bound for Red China and "you can't have any fun there."

Reds See 'Bad End' To Geneva Talks

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union rejected again Tuesday American and British demands for an international inspection system to safeguard a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told United States Ambassador Arthur Dean and British Minister of State Joseph Godber the negotiations for a test-ban agreement "will come to an inglorious end" if the Western powers maintain their control demands.

Neither Tsarapkin nor the two Western delegates referred to the forthcoming U.S. atmospheric test series in the Pacific.

Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin threatened last week when he heads for Ottawa.

Macmillan Resigned

LONDON (CP-AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan heads for the United States and Canada today, reported to be resigning to resume U.S. nuclear testing but hoping to find ways to getting the stalled Geneva disarmament talks back on the rails.

Macmillan will be in the United States until Sunday, when he heads for Ottawa.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Two sun-tanned dwarf trees from Japan are being treated for heat-stroke by their owner, Lt.-Cmdr. E. A. Wiggs, executive officer of HMCS Assiniboine.

The tiny, gnarled trees were a gift from friends in Japan. Lt.-Cmdr. Wiggs brought the trees back in the ship, tending them carefully according to instructions. His protective attitude toward the trees earned some gentle ridicule from other officers, who pretended to see a parallel between Lt.-Cmdr. Wiggs and "Mr. Roberts" in the story of that name. His captain nursemaid a potted palm.

Old and Twisted

The Japanese trees, a 12-year-old cedar and a 10-year-old pine, are trained in such a way as to make them appear old and twisted.

Keep the trees moist and in the shade, but let them have some sunshine, advised the friends who presented them to Lt.-Cmdr. Wiggs as a mark of esteem for the RCN.

Daily Iodine Ration Just Isn't Necessary

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD
Dear Sir: Will four drops of iodine daily in a glass of water be good for health or harm?

—MRS. J. F.
I'm sure you're referring to tincture of iodine, the ordinary kind that is an antiseptic. Except under unusual circumstances there is no danger in that amount. For one thing, it isn't much iodine. Pure iodine is a solid, and the tincture is only the amount that is dissolved in alcohol.

VERY SMALL.
To prevent goiter, most of us habitually use iodized salt—the table variety that has a trace of potassium iodide in it. However, the amount of iodine we need is very small. Occasionally potassium iodide is used as a medicine, but that is a far cry from saying that it, like any other medicine, is "good for health". In general, on the other hand, there are some individuals with thyroid disorders who have to avoid excess iodine. For them, the few drops a day would be too much, and some of them even avoid iodized salt.

NOT NECESSARY.
For the great majority of us, a little more or less iodine doesn't make any difference. I am aware, however, that a sort of folklore grew up about iodine at one time, and some people even made money by selling pills containing a small amount of it. I suppose that's why I continue to receive letters asking about a "daily ration of iodine," or a few drops of tincture of iodine in water. Well, it just isn't necessary; it doesn't help and it usually doesn't harm, except occasionally.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes small children to have worms, and why must they pass through so large and long? Do you know of a medicine that will cut them up so they cannot be seen? They get on my nerves.—MRS. A.
If you will just get your thinking straightened out, you will realize that the important thing is to have these children treated to get rid of the parasites. So take them to your doctor and leave your nerves under the door mat until you've got the job done. (These, obviously, must be roundworms or tape worms, much less common than barely visible pinworms.) There is no medicine to "cut them up."

Dear Dr. Molner: Will leukemia always show up in a blood test and blood count?—STEADY READER.
Ordinarily, yes. However, with certain treatments, the disease can go into a period of remission. In this phase, presence of the disease can for a time be difficult to prove. For that reason, cases should be followed carefully.

Anti-Tobacco Program Advocated by Candidate
TORONTO (CP)—John Whitehead, Liberal candidate for Toronto Danforth in the June 18 federal election, objects to "our children being manipulated for the cigarette companies' profit" and is trying to do something about it.

He said if he is elected he will press the federal health department to conduct an anti-tobacco program linking lung cancer and the use of tobacco. Mr. Whitehead, 47-year-old advertising executive, says some cigarette advertisements are directed at youth and the ads generally tend to promote smoking as the popular thing to do and a sign of maturity. He advocates an educational campaign similar to that being conducted in Britain by the ministries of health and education. Mr. Whitehead himself smokes a cigar or cigarette occasionally and thinks the habit is all right for adults. In the election campaign he will be opposing Robert Hardy Small, Progressive Conservative and current member for the riding, and Reid Scott of the New Democratic Party.

Steel Expansion in California Big Boon for Canada's Coal?

OTTAWA (CP)—A contemplated major expansion of the American steel industry in California was seen Tuesday as a potential market which may double the consumption of western Canadian bituminous coal by 1970.

Delegates at the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy conference were told that a recent survey by federal mining officials indicated that Canada may eventually become the major supplier of metallurgical coke to the western United States.

Major factor is understood to be whether the green light is given for a projected expansion intended to triple iron and steel production at a U.S. Steel Company plant at Pittsburg near San Francisco. No decision has yet been announced.

PAPER PRESENTED
The prospects of new markets for western coal were discussed in a paper presented by J. C. Botham, senior mines department scientific officer. In assessing the expected increased requirements of the western American iron and steel industry, it was suggested that the expanded Pittsburg plant might consume as much as 1,000,000 tons of Canadian coal a year by 1970.

MARKET DOUBLED?
If the Canadian coal is found suitable, it would mean a doubling of the market for western bituminous coal. At present some 750,000 tons is being shipped to Japan each year with approximately 250,000 tons going into the Canadian market. The coal would likely come from southeastern British Columbia or Alberta, where the U.S. Steel Company now is engaged in large-scale exploration work. C. L. O'Brien, chairman of the Dominion Coal Board, commented that the survey had produced a "wider horizon" for western coal. It came at a time when diesel had "practically ruined" the bituminous coal industry.

Compensation Probe
DesBrisay To Open Hearings
First sitting of the royal commission into Workmen's Compensation Board procedures will take place in Vancouver at 11 a.m. May 10.

Appointment of the commission was announced by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson during the recent session of the legislature. Chief Justice A. C. DesBrisay will be commissioner. No evidence will be taken at the first meeting nor will briefs be accepted.

Prospective witnesses willing to appear before the commission should advise commission counsel Victor Dryer at Room 1951, 970 Burrard Street, Vancouver.

The stamp cover or cachet shows the San Juan Islands in outline together with sketches of the new post office, a ferry boat, aircraft and fishing boat. Special permission has been given to the Friday Harbor-based Island Sky Ferries Inc. to pick up airmail on the opening day.

Interested collectors may obtain cachets from San Juan Chamber of Commerce or postmaster Walter Arend at Friday Harbor.

Death Wish Closed Lost Woman's Life

VANCOUVER (CP)—The dramatic story of an Indian woman's wish for death and her strange disappearance in the frozen north 18 years ago was told to the British Columbia Supreme Court Tuesday.

Justice J. G. Rutan made an order presuming the death of Edna Reed after her husband, McDermott Creek prospector Joseph Harry Reed, told his story. Edna was last seen in a log cabin in April, 1944, several days after she gave premature birth to a stillborn child and became seriously ill.

MARRIED IN 1943
In a statement presented to the court by lawyer Miss Ann Sutherland, Mr. Reed said he had married his wife in 1943 when she was 18. Her name was Edna Cigar.

He said they lived in a log cabin on McDermott Creek, in the Cassiar district of far northern British Columbia near the Yukon border. Their nearest neighbor was 17 miles away by snow shoe trail, the nearest doctor 154 miles away at Watson Lake, Y.T.

PREMATURE BIRTH
He said on April 2, 1944, his wife gave premature birth. He said there was no time to go for help so he acted as midwife, "then nursed as best I could." She was very ill.

A few days later she suddenly asked him to shoot her dog because the barking disturbed her "beautiful dreams." Later the same day, as the prospector was outside chopping wood, his wife suddenly appeared and without warning shot him. The bullet entered Reed's shoulder.

DIDN'T KNOW WHY
He said his wife told him she did not know why she did it. Reed said he tried to remove the bullet from his back, but couldn't and decided to go for help. After three miles he fell exhausted. They found a prospector's cabin where he built a fire, put his sick wife to bed, then continued his trip.

IN DOG SLEIGH
He finally reached the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hope, where Mrs. Hope extracted the bullet. Friends returned to the cabin where Mrs. Reed had been left, met her on the way and brought her back in a dog sleigh.

The Reeds were housed in an adjacent log cabin in the tiny community where the Hopes lived. Reed said it was necessary for him to visit the Hopes but before he left his sick wife handed him a brand new dress which she took from a tin. She asked it be given to a Mrs. Charlie Chief.

Reed said he delivered the dress, asked Mrs. Chief to go and spend the night with his wife. He said he found she never did go and was later told by her the gift of the dress was a sign that Mrs. Reed wished to end her life. She was never seen again.

Faisal's 'Wife' Sues Estate

NEW YORK—A court claim that she was the wife of the late King Faisal II of Iraq and entitled to $113,000 on deposit in his name in a New York bank was made here by 23-year-old Genevieve Arnault of Manhattan.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Lucy Arnault, vice-president of the Arlan Company, who alleged she was wrongfully imprisoned with Genevieve in Baghdad and is suing the estate for $300,000.

Reds Hopeful on Berlin But Reject Arms Plan

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Gromyko was cautiously optimistic Tuesday about the possibility of an East-West settlement of the Berlin and German problems.

Gromyko told the Supreme Soviet that "glimpses of hope" had come out of current talks on the problems in Washington between American State Secretary Rusk and Anatoly Dobrynin, Russia's ambassador to the United States.

On disarmament Gromyko rejected an American suggestion that the question of moral international inspection be considered by the 11-nation disarmament conference at Geneva. On-site inspection would mean "espionage."

He said the Geneva conference had failed to make any real progress to date, but he praised neutral countries at the conference for coming up with proposals in an attempt to break the East-West nuclear test-ban deadlock.

Argentina Faces Grave New Crisis

By CARMEN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The annulment of Peronist-Communist election victories at the bidding of the military may mark only a new phase rather than the end of Argentina's political troubles.

The many backers of former dictator Juan Peron, after almost seven years in the wilderness, are not likely to accept a new banishment quietly.

And even if the military does succeed in clearing ranks and imposing order on the country, the resumption of normal democratic government will be difficult.

The annulment decree, signed by President Guido Tuesday after five weeks of tangled manoeuvring, voided March 18 election results that gave the Peronistas 2,500,000 votes, nine provincial election wins and 65 seats in the House of Deputies.

LED TO OUSTER
The results stunned military leaders and led to their ouster of President Arturo Frondizi, who had convinced them it would be safe to lift the ban on the Peronistas and let them run in the election.

In the last few days, while sharply divided among themselves, the armed forces have been unanimous in insisting that the Peronistas must not be allowed to take office.

For a time last weekend it appeared that the upper hand had been taken by Guido and a group of "legalist" officers who wanted the elections voided only with congressional approval.

On Sunday, however, the navy chased moved 500 marines into Buenos Aires and demanded that Guido sign the annulment decree on his own authority.

INJUSTICE SEEN
Peron's followers can hardly be blamed if they see injustice in a system that allows them to vote only if they cast their ballots in the right direction.

Even before the annulment decree they had promised general strikes and even violence if their winning candidates were not allowed to take office May 1.

If they carry out their promises now the resulting crisis could be one of the gravest ever faced by the crisis-plagued country.

Guido Kills Poll Gains

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido ordered federal control over Argentina's provinces Tuesday, wiping out election gains by followers of ousted dictator Juan Peron.

The giant General Confederation of Labor lashed back Tuesday night with a call to its 3,800,000 members to stand by for a national strike.

After resisting demands of army and navy chiefs for more than three weeks, Guido finally bowed to military pressure and issued the anti-Peronist decree. Generals in three provinces, a still in a under presidential orders, took over control from civilian governors.

Loud and Clear

UNITED NATIONS Secretary-General U Thant sounded an almost desperate note of warning Sunday when he revealed that it was possible for one powerful nation to bankrupt the UN by withholding its dues out of dislike of the international organization's peace-making operation.

Though it has been generally taken that his remarks were specifically directed at Russia and France, both of whom have consistently refused to contribute toward the UN operation in the Congo, a good many other smaller nations should not escape criticism. For far too long many of them have been riding the UN free of charge or at greatly reduced rates.

Paradoxically it is the very nations who miss the most payments that call upon the UN for the most help.

It is a known fact that were it not for the generosity of the United States the UN would have gone broke years ago. But there is a limit even to this open-handedness—an event which U Thant apparently sees only too clearly.

"The United Nations depends on the three Ms for peace-keeping operations," he says, "money, men and materials. If we do not get these three Ms I think the future of the United Nations is, if I may say so, quite gloomy."

You may indeed say so, Mr. Secretary-General. But say it to those 87 member countries of the United Nations whose dues, to use your own words, "stand in serious arrears." And say it to them loud and clear.

The Fair Begins

"LET THE FAIR BEGIN," announced President Kennedy by long-distance from Florida, and at the other end of the U.S. the Seattle exposition opened its doors.

It has been an immense undertaking, this promotion of a world's fair, and nearby neighbors such as those in Victoria and Vancouver have watched its progress since the beginning. People from both these cities were among the first of its visitors.

This ambitious Seattle project, carried through by typical American enterprise and enthusiasm, is a projection of the realms of science and industry towards the post 2000 AD era, hence its official title of "Century 21." Other exhibits there are plenty, and from nations all over the world, together with an extensive range of attractions lasting all through the summer.

Seattle will be the mecca of countless visitors, and its mounting of so major a project is a tribute to the skills and endeavors which have been harnessed by that city. All the officials concerned with Century 21 are to be heartily congratulated.

Victoria looks with admiration and interest to its large Washington State neighbor and wishes it success through every day of its spectacular and comprehensive world's fair.

Mapping the Course

LOOKING AHEAD to the days a decade or so hence when residential and commercial development will push into the farmlands of the northern part of the municipality, Saanich is preparing temporary zoning regulations to govern the future use of land in that area.

Possibly the council will encounter some resentment of this action from the property-owners affected, who until now have not been under such restriction. For the benefit of the community as a whole, however, the zoning of the land is being undertaken now too soon; it is important that the nature of future growth should be shaped before haphazard development places obstacles in the way.

The Capital Region Planning Board in its 1959 master plan for orderly growth of the metropolitan area foresaw a population increase—and consequent increases in homes, cars, businesses, schools, needed park space and so forth—which in fact has been exceeded.

The board anticipated that by 1976 urban development would move through Royal Oak, and then, narrowing from six miles wide to an average of not more than three miles, would "steamroller" northward, depriving coming generations of the rural scenic beauty of Saanich Peninsula, entirely perhaps, if not carefully controlled.

It looks as if the steamroller will be on the move earlier than the capital region planners expected, and Saanich is doing well to map the course it must follow.

Officially Ended

IT MIGHT be said that winter officially ended when the Toronto Maple Leafs beat Chicago Black Hawks last Sunday night. This, except for lesser series still being played out, closed for another year the great national pastime on ice, probably the one game that is truly Canadian.

The CBC broadcasts of the playoff series, well done and of a quality that does the national television network much credit, showed how widely throughout the land the climax to the hockey season was full of interest.

Spring has been in evidence at the Pacific Coast for many weeks, but nationally, in a sense, the winter is not over until someone wins the Stanley Cup.

That honor this year fell to Toronto, and since they last won the trophy as long ago as 11 years, few will deny that their turn came not too soon. They seem to have won it convincingly, also, on foreign ice, a circumstance that enhances the measure of the victory.

Chicago can console themselves with the thought that—well, they won it last year and it is better that the honors should go round.

And now the sports pattern turns from ice indoors to fields outdoors, as the skates are laid away and a hockey season ends.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships, and sailing boats ...

BY TOM TAYLOR

RECENTLY in a pile of old documents uncovered in Kent a collector came across a letter written by Sir Francis Drake. Hitherto unknown, it described how he staged the Spanish beard at Cadix, and was written "aboard Her Majesty's ship called the Elizabeth Bonaventure in very great haste April 27, 1587."

The letter was signed "Francis Drake," which is the point of this piece this morning. Some extant letters of Drake find his signature to be written "Fra: Drake" and a number of other Drake letters vary in the form of his signature. Like many of his contemporaries the admiral signed his name as the spirit moved him.

Perhaps nowadays we are too pedantic about our spelling of capital names. I have two signatures myself, one I use for official documents and the other for less momentous papers. Sometimes I am afraid that one of these days I shall mix them up. But apparently in older times inhibitions of this sort did not trouble people.

Granted it would be rather awkward if in 1962 individuals spelt their names differently every time they put pen to paper, but how did they manage in days of yore? They wrote to one another, and as in the case of Drake had no scruples about how they signed themselves. And presumably the recipients, themselves of the same bent, had no trouble identifying the sender.

I came across this cavalier attitude to consistency in the Wallace Monument in Scotland, wherein are displayed two letters written by him as guardian of the nation to the burgesses of Germany on matters of trade. One is signed Wallensis and the other Wallaya. Now it might be that Wallace wasn't as used to a pen as much as we are and so wasn't familiar with the look of his name. Or he could have been a poor speller.

More likely since for him the sword was the mightier of the two weapons he was not overly concerned with his signature.

Much nearer our own time Lawrence of Arabia showed the same blithe indifference with regard to individual names, whether of places or persons. The publisher's note attached to his "Seven Pillars of Wisdom" draws attention to his reply when it was pointed out that he frequently spelt these names in contradictory fashion.

All he answered was: "Good. I spell my names anyhow."

In a book by the wife of the chief of the McIntosh clan she illustrates 30 different ways of spelling this clan name, which suggests that the clanmen of old also found no hindrance in varying their signatures.

The current, of course, is a paper age and confusion would be confounded if most dictated the manner of our names. A street might more easily diversify the pattern by citing in successive blocks "Foul," "Fowl," "Fool" or "Full" than, say, Mr. Bennett each time he wrote a letter. He manages to be varied enough without a change of signature.

Yet initials and heads of state of old seem to have overcome the seeming disability of ringing the changes. How interesting it would be if candidates in the federal election followed suit. This might defeat some but elate others.

Still, Drake's variety had its drawback, not in his day but ours. Some experts are doubtful that this new-found letter is genuine.

The Packback

Status Symbol

BY GREGORY CLARK

THE pipe, according to one of my deep-thinker friends, is becoming a status symbol. "Vice-presidents of big corporations," he says, "and rising young executives in industry and finance are taking to pipe smoking as the mark of the solid, sound, old-fashioned man. They are letting their hair grow a little towzily, like President Kennedy's or like that of a professor of economics. No more feverish cigarettes. No more open cars with the top down. The new image is earthy, and an old briar pipe held kindly in the side of the jaw."

He is quite right. The style of smoking has always been a status symbol. Until the First World War, cigarettes were the status symbol of the distant, the playboy. Then the first war boosted the cigarette into enormous popularity. It became the status symbol of the soldier.

The cigar for long years was the symbol of the prosperous businessman. To this day, a certain element in the prosperous world wouldn't feel right without a fat cigar jutting upwards from their teeth.

We plain old pipe smokers don't mind a few vice-presidents joining us, if they think it improves their status.

Sicily Calls for Help

The Intolerable Mafia

By NINETTA JUCKES from Rome

THE 90 deputies of Sicily's Regional Assembly have unanimously approved a motion asking the Italian Parliament to set up a commission of inquiry into the Mafia. A year or two ago such an appeal from Palermo to Rome would have been unthinkable.

Today it shows how Italy's economic miracle is changing the political atmosphere both in Sicily and on the mainland. The "miracle" itself makes the continued existence of the Mafia intolerable. Often it is the new developments, the aqueducts and dams, or the new hospitals which are being sabotaged by the Mafia in order to maintain its control upon a long stagnant and traditional society.

In this society, water for irrigation could only be obtained with the permission of the "Water-Mafia," the "Mafia of the Groves" controlled the fruit markets, and the "Meat-Mafia" levied toll on the slaughter and sale of cattle. There was a Mafia for every branch of activity in pre-industrial Sicily. On the stealing and kidnapping for ransom were its principal activities, but it also developed an organization to control the building industry, and to dictate terms to workers and contractors.

The beginnings of prosperity in Sicily have brought the Mafia from the country into town, or rather the Old Mafia continues to operate in rural western Sicily while the New Mafia is turning Palermo into a Mediterranean edition of prohibitionist Chicago, over-run by hangers-on and racketeers. The latest racket exploited by the Mafia is the television business.

Television, which came to Sicily five years ago, is the biggest event in the life of Southern Italy in the last 100 years. It is rapidly changing the outlook and habits of the people and has become so indispensable psychologically that even the poorest people will make immense sacrifices—in necessary go without food—in order to acquire a set. Recently a young woman attempted to commit suicide when the billfests came to take her television set away.

In Palermo, most of its 800,000 inhabitants, most of them extremely poor, there are 400 licensed television shops all of which pay tribute to the Mafia. A few months ago a series of murders took place in the town because some shopkeepers tried to rebel against this control. None of the culprits was brought to trial. Western Sicily, the area between Palermo and the rock-bound towns of Paternò, Meriello and Corleone, has a high crime rate. In a recent television inquiry the gravest danger in the Corleone territory alleged that 20 per cent of the people he had buried had come to a violent end.

Ever since Sicily acquired a form of home rule in 1947, the Regional Assembly has considered calling in help from Rome. Now it has at last decided that "the difficulties encountered in pursuing crimes make it necessary to find out what interests lie at the bottom of this phenomenon and what forces give aid and complicity to the criminal organizations."

A commission from the national Parliament will, it is hoped, have the prestige, authority and necessary detachment to obtain the truth, and above all, to interrogate police officers and magistrates as well as ordinary citizens. The main difficulty is getting witnesses to speak. As a rule, even the closest relations of the Mafia's victims prefer to keep silent.

The origin of the Mafia is unknown and purists say the word ought not to be used as a substantive because there never was such a thing as a Mafia in the sense of an organized secret society with recognized officers and rules.

In Sicilian dialect a mafia still means a man of proved temper whom one dares not offend. It is this idea of virility combined with intense but equally primitive conceptions of friendship, loyalty and personal honor, probably questioned to them by the barons, that have brought the Sicilians so much blood and tears.

To eradicate these false ideals, the social reformer, Danilo Delci, has been working for 12 years in the Mafia country. It is difficult to judge his success locally, but he has certainly done a great deal to bring the problem to the attention of intellectuals in Italy and abroad and so, eventually, to that of public authority.

In Washington

Economic Dispute

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

THE chief interest in U.S. national politics has suddenly and dramatically turned from world crises to the homely old dollars-and-cents issues.

At least the beginnings of a real argument between President Kennedy and his hapless presidential rivals for 1964 are now developing.

Yesterday, when foreign policy dominated the nation's concerns, there was in fact no genuine interparty dispute at all. The top Republican possibilities for 1964, Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, were ofering no partisan challenge here to Mr. Kennedy. This was for the sound reason that essentially they were in agreement with him on such world matters as the maintenance of Western rights in Berlin and the resumption of nuclear testing.

Now, however, and altogether logically or not, the atmosphere of world crisis is lightening. Though there still is no realistic prospect for any early settlement on Berlin, there is the strong possibility of a relatively quiet standoff there for the foreseeable future.

Thus, an old-fashioned party discussion is opening, in the tried to introduce and to stifle the aspirations of the peasantry who were tempted to look on the Risorgimento (Italian struggle for unity and independence in the 19th century) as a social conflict as well as a struggle for national unity.

Politically the Mafia has always been on the side of reaction, though this was sometimes masked as Sicilian patriotism. Thus, the Mafia played a big part in the anti-Piedmontese agitation which followed the downfall of the Bourbons in 1860 and again in the separatist movement at the end of the Second World War.

Its most tragic and characteristic episode was the story of Salvatore Giuliano and his band. Giuliano was not a mafioso but an outlaw of whom the Mafia made use for political ends. After making Giuliano a "colonel" of the separatist army, it used his hand to terrorize the peasants who were agitating for a distribution of the uncultivated land on the big estates. The final, tragic episode was the massacre at Portella della Ginestra when the bandits shot down peasants at a Communist May Day celebration.

The end of this story, Giuliano's murder by his lieutenant, Giuseppe Pisciotta, the trial of his band and Pisciotta's mysterious murder in prison at Palermo after his threat to divulge the names of the instigators of the massacre, has recently been told in a memorable film by Francesco Rosi. This film undoubtedly had some influence in bringing about the historic vote in the Sicilian Assembly.

The Spaceman

Grimy Stardust

By CARMENDA

from London

A BUNDLE of letters written by the U.S. astronaut Colonel John Glenn was auctioned in New York for $141.

It was a singularly dreary correspondence between the man who went in orbit round the globe at 17,000 miles an hour and his garage—but somebody evidently wanted the money.

The vision of Colonel Glenn as the splendid spaceman is fading.

He and his six colleagues, who formed themselves into a syndicate, received half a million dollars for their story which was published in Life magazine.

They were offered seven houses in Texas as gifts—each one being worth $54,000—but in the face of pressure from Washington they turned the gifts down.

President Kennedy is sensitive about this sort of cashing in.

Presents are a very touchy subject at the White House where Eisenhower cut a sorry figure over the Vietnam cost that his chief adviser Sherman Adams accepted from a shadowy figure, and Harry Truman got into very hot water over deep freezers being distributed free to some of his personal staff.

A Washington attorney, one Leo DeOrsey, who handles the affairs of many famous business stars, is dealing with the finances of the spacemen.

Mr. DeOrsey seems to have few qualms about the commercialization of the space flights made possible by multi-billion dollar expenditure by the American taxpayers.

He says: "I am protecting the same rights for these boys as General Bradley had, as General Montgomery had, as Anderson when he went to the pole, and as President Eisenhower and President Truman."

The road to the stars seems to have lost some of its glory.

Oh, Horror

The chap who ordered the Duke of Beaufort off his farm where his Grace had been feasting in like Beethoven's Guardman, in the immortal cartoon who dropped his rifle on parade. He did what is simply NOT done with zest and gusto—plus a shotgun.

Not only did he give the duke the old heave-ho but he said to have shot his fox. The name of this bold fellow is Colin Robertson, and he's a farmer.

This is sporting scurrilous on a breath-taking scale.

The enormity of the offence is comparable to playing a ribald melody on a banjo in a cathedral.

The Duke of Beaufort is no ordinary duke. He is an upper-upper-upper-class that it is difficult to think of him as a human being.

He is the master of the Queen's Horse, Lord Lieutenant of the County of Gloucester, Honorary Colonel of the Royal Gloucestershire Hussars and, inevitably, of course, out of Eton and Sandhurst.

The duke owns 33,000 acres. The farmer who sent him packing produced over 100 acres. One would have thought the duke might have been able to contain his blood-sporting instincts within his own little cabbage patch.

For good value, Farmer Robertson also chucked the joint master, Major Gundry, off his farm. Said the gallant major's wife afterwards: "It's too awful for him to talk to anyone about it."

Perfect. Absolutely perfect. You can't invent lines like that.

Mutt and Jeff

It has come to something when you can't use your own name. Jeff Turner, a little boy aged five, is not allowed to write his name on his school books.

The headmistress, Mrs. C. Rolfe, of Five Elm School, Dagenham, says with pedantic authority: "The name does not exist. It may be a nickname. But I do not like that either. While he is in school he must use the proper spelling."

She insists on Geoffrey.

Oh the heavy solemnity of it all!

Nicknames are the salt of life. I wonder if Mrs. Rolfe has one.

If not, I suggest Mutt.

Kortissimo

MPs are now taking on the menace of nocturnal car rallies in rural areas.

Six of them ask for urgent action and Mr. Marples is going into the question of introducing a measure of control over these anti-sleeping Gadsden couplings.

The police, who can pull you up over scores of matters ranging from faulty elevators to mirrors, have, at the moment, no powers to stop these selfish hostilities of the night disturbing the peace and quiet of the countryside.

The motorist organizations have been as planless as the rally louts have been fortississimo. Mouse-like squeaks compared with maching-gun fire.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be on subjects of general interest, and must be 100 words in length, and, if signed with a pseudonym, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

I note with interest Peter Bruton's column in your Sunday issue. While this answer is from the green, green grass and not top brass, I hope you will bear with me.

Firstly, I am very surprised to find that Mr. Bruton, a man who speaks with some authority, could have made such an error as to say I am from the interior. Your columnist cannot have been in this province for very long; he might rather have said I was a little up Fraser Valley soil for or a hick from the sticks in our fair capital, but an outsider from the interior is completely wrong. Rather I am an insider on the outside trying to get a look in.

Secondly, I should think that he who writes a column should get his facts straight. The reporter from the Colonist did not take notes but supposedly closed his notebook. I think a columnist should not indulge in hearsay, politically that is, but should attend some of the meetings of the candidate and obtain his facts correctly.

As to his non-defence, or his defence of no speeches in the House of Commons, or such other nonsense—I will say nothing. I think the length of his column speaks for itself and shows most certainly his slant. As Mr. Bruton noted in his first interview, he rather liked me and I wish to say this feeling is mutual, even though he may be a smooth-skinned Tory.

Yours for more of that stuff called political pabstev sprinkled on the green grass.

Litter on the Streets

A letter by a local lady referred to the fifth on the streets in our city. I personally can speak as I find in this district alone.

I personally don't think it was necessary for the city to buy new fangled garbage cans. It may have helped the contractor who supplied them, but was a waste of money of the taxpayers.

What we need is more parents of old-time type who train their children from almost babyhood to be tidy. It seems there is a great laxity on the part of parents these days to do that old-time type of training, which we see so little of in these days in many other ways. ...

Cleanest of Cities

In regard to Mrs. M. B. Baylis's letter of the 19th, I have travelled back and forth from Montana to Victoria for the past several years and never have I seen a cleaner city.

The citizens of Victoria have a pride in their city that cannot be surpassed. There are a lot of old buildings, yes, but you'll find that no matter which city you are in. The homes are well kept and made as attractive as humanly possible.

I would like to take this opportunity also to thank the people of Victoria for all the courtesies shown us while we have been in Victoria and shall always look forward to returning.

Have Moral Courage Women Tell Kennedy

MONTREAL (CP)—The voices of women, a Canadian organization urging universal disarmament, sent a message to President Kennedy Tuesday asking him "to have the moral courage" to call off nuclear dogs. The VoW sent messages at the same time to Premier Khrushchev of Russia and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain.

Mr. Khrushchev was told he will earn the gratitude of humanity if he refuses to resume nuclear testing, no matter what the United States does.

Mr. Macmillan was asked to use his influence with the American president "to break this vicious circle of nuclear testing, which jeopardizes all hope of nuclear disarmament."

The message were signed by Mrs. Helen Tucker of Toronto, president, and Mrs. Theresa Casgrain of Montreal, vice-president.

SPECIAL SAILING TO THE SEATTLE WORLD'S FAIR

In commencing the Seattle—Victoria ferry service, the Princess Marguerite leaves Victoria at 10:00 a.m. and arrives in Seattle at 2:00 p.m., Thursday April 26th only.

This special sailing offers island residents the opportunity to spend an afternoon and evening at the World's Fair . . . AND there's no worry about overnight accommodation because you can reserve a cabin on board the ship for the night of April 26. Return to Victoria the morning of April 27th or leave the ship at 7:00 a.m. and spend another day at the Fair.

Again you can reserve a stateroom for the night. Phone Canadian Pacific right now, make your car and stateroom reservations.

Liberals Protest CBC Time Split

OTTAWA (CP) — Walter L. Gordon, national campaign chairman of the Liberal party, said Tuesday night the party "objects strongly" to the Board of Broadcast Governors' division of free CBC network time for electioneering.

The board gave the Progressive Conservatives nine 15-minute periods, the Liberals seven, New Democrats five and Social Credit three.

"It discriminates against the Liberals," Mr. Gordon said in a statement. He said that representatives of the four parties agreed on a time division Saturday. The BPG decision "ignores the agreement reached on Saturday by representatives of the four parties."

He said the Saturday meeting agreed to give the Conservatives 8 1/2 broadcast periods, the Liberals 7 1/2, the New Democrats 5 1/2 and the Social Credit 3 1/2.

Allister Grosart, national director of the Progressive Conservative party, said last night "there was absolutely no agreement reached Saturday."

Made in Canada Plan Profits U.S. Firm

OTTAWA (CP) — An American industrial executive said Tuesday a "made in Canada" approach paid his company dividends in its Canadian operations and revealed a way to compete in the European Common Market.

C. R. Jones, general manager of Cooper-Bessemer of Canada Limited, said his firm's decision to produce heavy machinery at Stratford, Ont., has provided jobs for Canadians and lessened the amount of imported equipment used in the Canadian petroleum, natural gas and other industries.

DOUBLE EFFECT
The clue to success, he suggested, was having more than 40 existing Canadian manufacturers supply most of the necessary components to be assembled by the wholly-owned American subsidiary.

This had the double-barrelled effect of keeping the wheels of production turning for the suppliers and lowering Cooper-Bessemer's own capital investment. The result proved so satisfactory that the American parent company now was planning to adopt the same approach in its European operations.

Mr. Jones was among more than 50 delegates to present technical papers Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. Other papers dealt with such topics as the increasing importance of certain industrial minerals in Canada's economy, oil and gas prospects in eastern Canada and ocean research.

WAS REJECTED
Mr. Jones said his company which makes piston-heads, cylinders, compressors and other equipment, originally sought to manufacture these products in the same way as in the U.S. In view of Canada's smaller market, this type of scaled-down operation was rejected as uneconomical.

MARKET PROBLEM
A paper on Canadian sulphur prospects, presented by International Sulphur Company Limited, said Canada faced growing marketing difficulties as production expanded without a corresponding increase in demand. The basic problem was the high transportation cost of moving sulphur from its major source of supply in Alberta to North American markets and ports for export.

Varsity Teams To Stage Blasts

TORONTO (CP) — Scientific teams from Canadian and United States universities are to conduct a series of explosions on the bottom of Lake Superior to measure the thickness of the earth's crust in North America. Dr. R. J. Uhen, principal of the university college of arts and science, University of Western Ontario, said in an interview Tuesday the joint project is expected to confirm one of the main theories on the formation of the continent.

COUNCIL APPROVES
"We suspect that the continent — which is the crust — grew from inside the earth," he said. "We need to measure the thickness of the crust in both continental and ocean areas to evaluate this theory."

The project has been approved by the National Research Council of Canada and is scheduled to be under way next summer.

Teams from North American universities will measure shock waves travelling through the crust of the earth along a strip of Lake Superior stretching about 100 miles northeast of Duluth.

The shock waves will be set off by explosions at the bottom of the lake controlled from a research ship.

The following universities will take part: Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Western Ontario, Toronto and McGill. The United States universities are Princeton, Wisconsin, Michigan, Pennsylvania State, Minnesota and Columbia.

Luxurious Theatre Planned in Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Famous Players Canadian Corp. Ltd. will build a luxurious new movie theatre in Toronto. J. J. Fitzgibbon, president, told the company's annual meeting Tuesday.

He did not elaborate on plans because negotiations for the site have not been completed, but it was understood the theatre would be outside the main downtown area.

A company spokesman said famous players believe competition from television, which has hit motion picture theatres hard, may be said to have reached its peak.

Socreds Lose TV Time To Tories

OTTAWA (CP)—The Conservatives gained at the expense of the Social Credit Party Tuesday in the final division of free CBC network time for electioneering.

Liberals and New Democrats retain the same proportion of free time as they had in the 1958 election, under the arbitrary split made by the Board of Broadcast Governors.

The BBG had to step in as a court of last resort when the four parties were unable to agree among themselves on how to share the 26 hours of free network time the CBC offered.

PICKING FORMULA
Picking the formula that appeared closest to all-party agreement in a meeting here last Saturday, the governors gave this breakdown of 15-minute periods on each of the four main CBC networks:

Progressive Conservatives nine, Liberals seven, New Democrats five, and Social Credit three.

consists of 56 stations. The same 9-7-5-3 ratio will apply to the two free hours that the CBC will provide on its Dominion radio network, which consists of 56 stations.

COVERS TWO MONTHS
The total free time will be spread over the two months leading to the June 18 federal general election.

In previous years, the division of the time has been based roughly on the proportion of Commons seats held by each party.

Gamblers Linked to Police

New Evidence Appears in Ontario Crime Probe

TORONTO (CP) — A former member of the Ontario Provincial Police's anti-gambling squad and a Windsor gambler offered a squad member-bribe up to a possible $85,000 in 1954 and 1955 for protecting gaming joints, the royal commission on crime was told Tuesday.

And the commission heard new evidence—the firmest to date-of 1958 links between the province's gambling hierarchy and persons in the legislature, the attorney-general's department and the OPP.

It heard, too, from Police Chief W. J. Shrubbs of Peterborough—a former anti-gambling squad member—that organized gambling in Ontario was assisted by "betrayal" on the part of some "working policemen" and police administrators and by elected or appointed government officials.

Chief Shrubbs, whose lengthy testimony time and again pointed to inside connections of at least one top gambler in OPP headquarters here, also said he feels his efforts on the squad between 1955 and 1958 were "frustrated" by Attorney-General Kelso Roberts and others.

The jut-jawed former OPP corporal, who previously had told of receiving a $1,000-a-month offer from gambler Vincent Feeley, Tuesday described a much heftier offer in 1954 from a Leo Finnigan of Windsor.

He said Finnigan at the time was co-owner of a property in Sandwich Township outside Windsor known as the Border Cities Press Club, which was the predecessor of a later Roseland Club operated by Feeley and Joseph McDermott.

As Shrubbs related it, Finnigan told him at a meeting in Toronto he had been forced to sell out other business interests because of unfavorable publicity in the Windsor Star and he needed help in keeping his club open.

Told to Lie Sons Tell Court

NELSON (CP) — Sons of Freedom Doukhobor Fred Chernenkoff, 71, a member of the sect's fraternal council, was found guilty Tuesday of wilfully obstructing the course of justice.

He was charged with ordering two members of the sect awaiting trial to change statements they gave police officers.

The two, Walter Ostrickoff and John Nevokshonoff, testified Chernenkoff went into the jail here during visiting hours and told them to testify statements they made to RCMP were false.

CNR Tackles Slide Problem

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian National Railways announced Tuesday it plans to wage war on a slide problem west of Jasper, Alta., which has cost the railway more than $1,000,000 in maintenance in the last four years.

Three work trains this summer will move into the mountains from Red Pass junction to McBride, B.C., to battle nature's attacks on the railroad's Prince Rupert-Jasper line each spring and fall.

A team of soil consultants made studies last year and prepared a report outlining the major slide problems in 10 areas. The CNR plans to spend $325,000 in five of the areas this summer.

Immensely rich in natural resources and energy reserves, British Columbia looks forward to a future of unlimited industrial development. In the past 15 years alone, the gross value of our manufacturing production has increased by six times and now adds more than $2 billion to the economy every year. To increase this production even further, to provide more jobs and opportunities for the people of the province, and to enable our economy to compete successfully in the markets of the world, your B.C. Hydro and Power Authority has embarked on the largest and most vital power development programme in British Columbia's history. The cornerstone of this programme is a water power potential of 40 million horsepower—equal to the entire installed generating capacity of highly industrialized Great Britain. The utilization of this tremendous resource and the dynamic new industry it will attract, make these 5 1/4% Revenue Bonds an exceptionally good investment.

with Alec Merriman

We found another way into Buttle Lake over the west-end-an interesting, scenic, but rugged route along the north shore of Lower Campbell Lake and across the Strathcona Dam, 22 miles in, to connect up with the regular south and southeast road to Buttle.

Bill Lees had told us last year that it was possible to get to Buttle by this route, but we had never met anyone who uses it. Many ardent anglers go as far as Fry Lake, which is the northwest tip of Lower Campbell, and only three or four miles from the dam. But few venture further, probably because the map shows a logging gate—which we understand is seldom closed.

The route we took, by hugging the shoreline of the John Hart Reservoir Lake and Lower Campbell, was most rugged and, at times, downright frightening as we creased along railway trestle bridges where the rails had been removed, leaving six-inch spaces between the ties.

They were rough but safe enough, and there were only three or four of them to cross.

Later we were to find out that there is a much easier route by cutting north, away from the Lower Campbell shore, just past Loveland Lake, following around Goelling and Boot Lakes, past Lawan Lake to Fry Lake, with connecting roads that lead to favorite fishing spots on Lower Campbell.

To travel and enjoy this Buttle Lake-Sayward Lakes country most one should really carry along one of those handy maps prepared by Doris Ert, which are now available in many places in the Campbell River district.

As early in the season as it was, and as cold and miserable as the weather was—with almost continuous rain all weekend, there were scores of hardy campers in the area, huddled around fires, shivering away, and many of them leaving the choppy lakes to fish.

And they were catching fish, not as many as they would have liked and probably would have done if the weather were fine, but they were getting some nice ones and they were in excellent shape.

Our new way to Buttle Lake started at the John Hart dam.

Instead of turning left to Forbes Landing and on to Buttle, we carried on over the dam and along the shore of John Hart Lake. Take the first turn left and carry on along the reservoir for three miles and a left turn will take you to a nice camping and fishing spot on the reservoir.

Eight miles in a Loveland Lake about half a mile after passing a lily pond at the side of the road. This is where we found about 15 camping parties in small trailers and tents, but their fishing success amounted to only three or four trout each. The lake was so rough they had difficulty getting out.

A few yards past the turnoff to Loveland, we turned left through an open logging gate for the rugged and bumpy ride along Lower Campbell. We could have carried straight on for the easier way.

Alder and willow bushes slapped the side of the van as we forced our way along the old railway grade. At the 13-mile mark we came to the first long trestle bridge, where we hesitated to go any further.

At the 15-mile mark, after passing several nice occupied camping spots, we spotted Bill Bridgwood, who was camped out with his wife in their comfortable camper van.

Bridgwood showed us the nearest catch of cutthroats we saw on our whole weekend and at least one of them went home to four pounds. Flatfish was his secret and his spot on Lower Campbell was the place where he and Police Chief John Blackstock have been fishing together for years. They drop down from the Goelling Lake road and don't risk the trestle bridges with their big camper.

Another couple of trestle bridges and another four or five miles along, we came to Fry Lake, where there were around 20 camping parties stretched out along the lake, really an inlet of Lower Campbell. This looks like an ideal spot to fish, but on Saturday the water was a little low and anglers reported little success, although one party had 20 trout, all caught on bobber and worm.

The tip of the lake, where the river empties from Whymper and Gray Lake, looked like a fly fisherman's paradise.

At Fry Lake we were warned the road to Strathcona Dam was not passable, but we decided to push on anyway. There were some pretty steep and bumpy climbs, but we had no difficulty getting through to the dam, which we reached at the 22-mile mark.

We just crossed over the dam and were on the regular road to Buttle Lake, at the northern end of Upper Campbell, with about 14 miles to go to the end of the Buttle Road.

Palmer's $37,008 Tops List

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Arnold Palmer continued to lead professional golfers' money winners this week with official earnings of $37,008.

Palmer has competed in 11 tournaments and won three, including the Masters. He has placed in the top five brackets twice.

Second on the list, released Tuesday by the Professional Golfers' Association, is Bill Casper Jr. with $25,288. Gene Littler ranks third with $21,661. Bob Nichols and Phil Rodgers rank fourth and fifth with $17,874 and $17,055 respectively.

Cricket Play For Weekend

Victoria and District Cricket Association opens what shapes up as its busiest season this weekend.

In Saturday matches, Oak Bay travels to Nanaimo and Alcos play University School at the school pitch. On Sunday, Albions play Five C's at Beacon Hill Park, and Incogs meet Cowichan at Duncan.

Highlight of the season is expected to be "B.C. Cricket Week" starting Aug. 4. Guest teams during the week will be the Western Canada Stragglers from Calgary and a California team from Los Angeles.

Lawn Bowlers Set Openings

Four of Greater Victoria's seven lawn bowling clubs will hold their official openings this week.

Today at 2 p.m., Lake Hill Lawn Bowling Club opens its doors. Saturday at 2 will mark the opening of Burnside, Victoria and Victoria West clubs. Canadian Pacific, Oak Bay and Colwood clubs will announce opening dates later.

Parksville to Construct Curling Rink

PARKSVILLE—These long winter evening drives to either Port Alberni or Nanaimo are over for curlers in the Parksville-Qualicum district. By next season they'll have a curling club of their own.

To be known as the Parksville-Qualicum Winter Club, the proposed rink will have four sheets of curling ice and will be used extensively for skating as well as curling. Construction is expected to start by July 15 and the target date for completion has been set for Sept. 15.

Estimated cost of the rink is $45,000. It is to be of cement block construction with a flat roof and an unobstructed ice surface. Provisions have been made for spacious clubrooms and a coffee counter as well as locker space.

To finance the construction, plans call for the sale of 100 memberships at $200 each and the sale of $25,000 in debentures which will bear five per cent interest.

A committee of 20 volunteer "directors" is handling the membership drive and Wally Antrim, one of the organizers of the new winter club, reports that about 50 memberships have already been sold. He is hopeful that the membership drive will be completed by the end of May and tenders let for construction.

The building site will be in Parksville Community Park, which has ample parking space and, located at the junction of the Island and Alberni highways, is centrally located for district curlers.

First president of the club is Garney St. Germain of Qualicum Beach. Mike Malone has been named vice-president and Martin Mocking is secretary-treasurer.

Plans call for skating between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, when the curling season is scheduled to start. There will be 10 more days of skating class.

during the Christmas holidays and several weeks of skating at the end of the curling season.

The Parksville-Qualicum Winter Club will be the eighth curling club on Vancouver Island, and the third constructed within a two-year period. It will bring to 62 the total number of sheets available to Island curlers.

Mrs. G. E. Harris shot a net 80 Tuesday to win the silver division of the ladies' monthly medal round at Victoria Golf Club.

Mrs. R. McDonald, net 81, was 'A' winner in the bronze division and Mrs. W. F. Munro, net 79, won the 'B' bronze class.

All Kinds of Trouble

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRES
Continuing yesterday's discussion on the thinning of young vegetables, I think I should point out that the ideal conditions for the thinning operation are dry plants and moist soil. The plants don't come cleanly out of dry soil, while handling the stems and foliage of young plants while wet tends to spread all kinds of infectious troubles through the crop.

You encounter these ideal conditions a few hours after a gentle rain, for instance. Or when rain isn't opportune, pour a thin stream of water gently over the soil without wetting the plant's foliage.

After the intervening plants are pulled up, firm the displaced soil carefully with the fingers or with the heel of the hand before leaving the row. This is particularly important in the case of carrots and onions, as loose and disturbed soil is an open invitation for the carrot rust fly and the onion fly to deposit their eggs.

Like lettuce, the summer table turnips are thinned on the instalment plan, leaving them at three-inch intervals after the first thinning. A few weeks later, every second plant can be pulled up and eaten while very young and tender. Don't forget that this turnip leaves are better than spinach as boiled greens, and the leaves of three little fellows, removed in the thinning operation, are especially good.

Kohlrabi, which I prefer to turnips, requires a spacing of nine inches eventually, but here again the thinning can be done in two operations. First time over, leave the plants 4 1/2 inches apart, then thin again when the swollen lower stems are about the size of tennis balls or just a little larger, eating the thinnings. This is really a delicious vegetable when grown fast and pulled young, with sweet, fine-grained flesh and a flavor halfway between a cauliflower and a turnip.

Kohlrabi should be boiled or steamed, and served with tender butter, salt and pepper, or with sour cream or in a white sauce, but they must be pulled young. If left in the ground, they become hard and starchy and with a strong, peppery flavor.

Beets are another crop that requires very early thinning, but this time for a different reason. What appears to be a single beet seed is actually a ball of clump containing from three to seven seeds, and for every "seed" that you sow, you'll get several plants coming up. No matter how carefully you space out the seeds, the seedlings will be far too congested, and they must be "singled" as soon as they are large enough to handle.

Leave a spacing of two inches between the best seedlings, and a few weeks later you can pull the alternate plants and use them as boiled greens. The next thinning will give you a feed of golf ball-size baby beets, either for immediate eating or for canning, leaving the balance to grow on to normal size.

Brussels sprouts should be thinned immediately to stand two feet apart. The spacing looks enormous when the plants are tiny, but as the young plants have no value when pulled, there is no point in thinning by gradual stages, as with beets and lettuce. While the plants are small, the intervening space in the row could be used to take a quick crop of radishes or green onions from onion sets, or anything that will grow quickly and will be out of the way by the time the sprouts need the elbow room.

Last Year in Black Rock

PARIS—As people who have followed the "Nouvelle Vague" motion pictures know, there is a new type of film, made by a new type of director, in which nothing happens. This lack of communication between the main characters is the essence of the film and reached its zenith in the French production, Last Year in Marienbad.

We have always wondered what would happen if they used a New Wave director to make a Western. There is no problem finding a script for such a story. We happen to have written one ourselves. Our picture is titled Nothing Happens at Black Rock.

Our story opens, as most Westerns do, as the tall Stranger rides into town on a hot, dusty afternoon. The street is empty.

The Stranger stops at the saloon, ties up his horse and walks into the bar. The bar itself empties as he walks up to it and says to the bartender: "Gimme a shot."

"Double or single?" the bartender asks.

"What's the difference?"

"You save five cents if you have the double."

"I better have a single, and plenty of ice and water, please."

At this moment, Blackie Jones, the town bully, steps up to the bar.

"You a stranger here, Stranger?"

"Yup."

"You want to have a fight and wreck the saloon?"

"No reason to do that. I got no quarrel with you."

"Well, would you like to see who's fastest on the draw?" Blackie asks.

Blackie thinks a minute. "You've got a point. Would you care to play some poker?"

"Don't mind if I do."

They sit down at a table with five of Blackie's henchmen. Blackie deals. The Stranger asks for two cards. Blackie takes four.

They bet heavily. The Stranger calls and Blackie says:

"I've got five aces."

"There are only four aces in the deck," the Stranger says.

"You calling me a cheater?" Blackie asks.

"Yes, I am," the Stranger says.

"Okay, I'll deal over. No sense getting mad."

Two hours later both men have broken even, and decide to call it quits.

As the Stranger gets up, he spies a beautiful dance-hall girl, who beckons to him from her room on the second balcony of the saloon.

"I wouldn't go up there if I were you," Blackie says.

"Why not?" the Stranger asks.

"No special reason," Blackie says.

The Stranger goes up to the girl's room. She's crying.

"You've got to help me. Blackie is holding me prisoner against my will and if you don't help me escape I'll have to marry him."

"Well, you got to get married some time," the Stranger says.

"But you don't understand. Blackie's a bad man," she cries.

"A man that drinks the way he does, cheats at poker, and steals girls and locks them up can't be all bad."

Just then a cry of "Indians!" is heard in the street.

Two hundred fierce, painted Apaches come riding out of the hills waving their tomahawks and spears. They ride right through the main street and out again into the other hills.

"Gee," says one cowboy to another. "I wish I could ride like those Indians."

We cut back to the Stranger. The bed's moved up.

"Well, see you around," the Stranger says, making a notch on his pistol.

"What about me?" the girl cries.

"Blackie will kill me."

"That's life," the Stranger says.

Mayor Fights Pay Boost

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—A board of aldermen wants to salary from $1,800 to $12,000 a year.

Now he is in a bitter struggle with aldermen who insist on the $10,200 increase voted last December while Mort Jacobs, a plumber, was mayor.

Mayor Myers said he will take $300 a month—$150 in salary and $150 for expenses—and not a cent more.

"I intend to keep my campaign promise," he said. "After taxes, the rest of that money is going back."

His wife Margaret, mother of three children, backed his stand.

"Paying us that full amount would be a hardship on the people," said Mrs. Myers. "Sure, we could use the money. But we don't want the people taxed any more than they are."

Mayor Myers sponsored a proposed ordinance to cut back the salary from $12,000, due to go into effect this month, to its original $1,800.

But for the third time, aldermen voted against it Monday.

The vote was 6-2. Newly-elected Aldermen Elmer Long and Ralph Riddle sided with Mayor Myers, who defeated Jacobs by about 30 votes.

Mrs. Ruth Kelly, a board member who supported the salary hike, contended that under state law the salary of the mayor could not be changed during his tenure.

Mayor Myers said: "Allowing aldermen to set the salary for a fourth class city without any statutory limitations is dangerous because they could set the figure at any amount."

A purchasing agent for McDonnell Aircraft Corp. he said the board majority feels the mayor's post in the city of $1,800 near St. Louis is a full-time job.

"I feel the duties can be performed on a part-time basis," he said. "I told the people before the election that to pay a man $12,000 certainly would affect their tax rates."

Hong Kong Road Hope for Hope

By SHEILA GRAM
HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Bobo Hope has postponed his next movie, The Global Affair, until October in New York. But if you think Bob will be resting this summer, he doesn't. He is now co-starring in Critic's Choice with Lucille Ball, after which comes a week at the Seattle fair (beginning July 9), then he will prepare for some of his six television shows for next season, and it wouldn't surprise me to find him later this summer in Europe where his Road to Hong Kong is doing big box-office business. Bob, who owns one-third of the picture, and Bing Crosby, who owns another third, have been told to expect $1,000,000 from England alone.

George Maharis dropped into his press agent's offices the day before his illness was diagnosed as hepatitis. This can be a dangerous illness and the entire staff rushed to their doctors to be inoculated.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own homes without any discomfort or embarrassment.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while greatly relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinkage) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was substantiated in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that doctors were able to make such statements as "Piles have seemed to be a problem!" And some of them even went so far as to say "I have never seen a case of hemorrhoids in over 10 to 20 years' standing."

All this, without the use of surgery, consultation or restraints of any kind. The new, revolutionary healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation R. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation R suppositories or Preparation R ointment with special applicator. Preparation R is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Golden Spruce Joke of Nature

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, B.C. (CP)—High on the bank of the Yakoun River stands the world's only known golden spruce.

Any self-respecting spruce should be green, but this one, 150 feet high and less than 100 years old, is a single shaft of gold in a forest of green.

Natives regard it as a symbol of good fortune. Queen Charlotte Islanders regard it as a tourist attraction and foresters look on it as one of nature's pranks.

Foresters regard the tree as what is known as a "sport"—a mutation caused by some unaccountable goings on in the plant's genetic setup.

"One of the genes which gives the color to the needles has simply gone off the beam," says research forester Eric Garmen of the B.C. Forest Service in Victoria.

Cuttings from the tree have been planted at different places in Canada, the U.S. and Britain. None has ever grown.

Injured Farmer Beams

Neighbors Plow Fields

It's Wonderful to Have Friends

Gordon Rendle has tangible proof that he has many good friends.

The 28-year-old Central Saanich dairy farmer broke his ankle three weeks ago in a fall while building a barn on his 130-acre property at 2800 Tanner Road.

Since then his friends on neighboring farms have pitched in to take over operation of the farm which has 100 head of dairy cattle.

They spread fertilizer on his fields, hauled hay, and most recently brought 14 tractors to handle spring plowing.

By the end of the day a total of 40 acres were plowed, harrowed and seeded with spring oats and field corn crops.

"I can tell you it's wonderful to have friends," Mr. Rendle said last night.

He recalled much the same situation three years ago when he dislocated a shoulder and friends pitched in to help.

"That's the part that's hard to take," said Mr. Rendle.

"The fellows were joking about it yesterday. I guess they're resigned by now to coming along every three or four years to plow my fields," he said.

Mr. Rendle has farmed in this area all his life, and has occupied his present property for six years. His leg will remain in a plaster cast for three more months.

Those who provided assistance yesterday with plowing are:

Dick Muir, Bob Godfrey, Pat Hoole, Jody Wright, John Looy, Joe Saville, Raymond Reimer, Eddy Raper, Harold Luney, Frank Edgell, Jim Hudson of Butler Bros., David Bapty, Fred Calendar and Wally Mar.

Ruling Changed—Chinese Bride Can Come Here

A Victoria Chinese who was forced to abandon his bride in Hong Kong when she was denied admission to Canada said yesterday, on the heels of immigration department clearance, he will bring her here as soon as possible.

Lee Wing Ting said this last night after a telegram from Immigration Minister Fairclough confirmed an earlier letter granting entry to Canada to the girl he awaits at his home, 307 King's Road.

The telegram was a late development in a battle between city lawyer David Hummel and the department of citizenship and immigration.

FAIRCLOUGH SAID

Earlier, Mr. Hummel had denied receiving the letter which Mrs. Fairclough said was mailed April 11.

He said that, on April 18, the day the Colonist told the story of the enforced separation of the young couple, a letter was received by Mr. Lee's father asking that he and his family appear before Victoria immigration authorities.

NO WORD SENT?

Second, on April 16, Mr. Lee was told by immigration officials in Hong Kong they had not received any word from Ottawa.

Mrs. Fairclough said the letter was sent to Lee April 11 and there is "no controversy at all."

Both Mr. Hummel and his client denied receiving the letter. Mr. Hummel wired Ottawa:

"Local press reports you sent me letter April 11, stating Lee's bride now admissible to Canada."

"No such letter received by me. Please wire if . . . bride admissible and send copy of letter."

Five hours later, a telegram signed by Immigration Minister Fairclough reached Victoria, saying: "I wrote you April 11 provisionally approving wife's admission. Sending registered mail today copy of letter."

"I don't know what this word 'provisionally' means. I would interpret it to mean we still haven't got final approval," said Mr. Hummel.

He added the change of ruling was "only correcting a wrong which clearly and obviously should not have occurred in the first place."

DEADLINE SOUGHT
The controversy flared following a deadline set by the lawyer, who had asked the department to reverse an earlier decision to bar Ma Man Wah, Lee's bride, from Canada. Lee, a Canadian citizen, married the girl in Hong Kong in January.

"A number of these immigration injustices have come to my personal attention," said Mr. Hummel. "It appears to me that when a decision of the minister which by its very nature is not subject to review in the courts, is involved, her department appears to have little or no reference to commonly accepted principles of justice and the spirit of the Bill of Rights."

Sooke Resignation Issue

Angry Walkout Divides Board

Pearson Paying 'Informal' Visit

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson will make an informal visit to Vancouver Island centres Tuesday.

He will make speeches in the Comox area and in Victoria but no major rallies will be held, a Liberal party spokesman said yesterday.

Mr. Pearson will fly to Comox Tuesday morning and spend some hours there before flying to Victoria late in the afternoon.

He will leave Victoria early the following morning to return to the mainland.

Details of his visit to the Island are still being arranged, the spokesman said, but informally will be the keynote all the way.

Mr. Pearson will be the first national political leader to visit Victoria in the federal election campaign.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is expected to visit the city early in May but no details of his visit have been announced.

Tentative arrangements have been made for New Democratic Party leader Tommy Douglas to visit Vancouver Island May 15 but no firm commitments have been made.

Two trustees marched angrily out of the meeting last night after Sooke school board voted 3 to 2 in favor of accepting the resignation of chairman John S. Williams.

Mr. Williams, who offered to resign his earlier letter of resignation, said following the meeting he will seek re-appointment to the board "at the first opportunity."

The issue which caused the split in board ranks was administration of adjoining Belmont Senior High and Elizabeth Fisher Junior High. Each at present has its own vice-principal, but there is only one principal for the two schools.

LAY ON TABLE
Mr. Williams submitted his resignation after the board voted at its last meeting to set up separate administrations for each school under its own principal.

Trustees unanimously voted to lay his letter of resignation on the table until the next board meeting, which was held last night.

Mr. Williams' second letter, requesting rescinding of his resignation, was placed on the agenda for the meeting. But it was not formally considered before a vote was taken which tallied 3 to 2 in favor of accepting the chairman's resignation.

Two trustees who opposed the move, Mrs. Isabella Reader and Fred H. Boulter, left the meeting in the words of one, "in disgust."

DENIED RIGHT
Mrs. Reader later charged the issue of administration in the two schools was decided by "illegal vote" when the chairman on that occasion, Mr. Williams, was denied the right of casting the deciding vote.

She added that when the board voted unanimously to table Mr. Williams' resignation it gave the chairman a vote of confidence.

Mr. Williams said he considered his resignation after "many" residents of the area served by Belmont and Elizabeth Fisher schools told him they supported his stand.

BOUND TO REACT
"I deplore this whole matter," said Mr. Williams. "It is bound to react on the schools of the district. Although it may seem rather ridiculous to some people, all my actions including my resignation were taken in the best interests of education and the children."

Mr. Williams said he reconsidered his resignation after "many" residents of the area served by Belmont and Elizabeth Fisher schools told him they supported his stand.

Man Rescued From Smoke

A young East Indian, overcome by smoke in his home, was taken to hospital last night after a neighbor noticed smoke billowing from his home and turned in an alarm. Sohan Singh Jawl, 27, of 2844 Blackwood, was unconscious when found in the kitchen of his home by deputy fire chief William Henly.

The deputy pulled the man from the house, and both oxygen and artificial respiration were applied until a police ambulance arrived.

The smoke victim was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where his condition later was reported satisfactory.

His wife is a patient in the maternity ward of the same hospital where she had a baby a few days ago.

Reports that prominent city resident James Audain will be nominated Social Credit candidate for Victoria for the June 18 federal election circulated yesterday.

Mr. Audain, a grandson of James Dunsmuir, who was premier of the province in 1902 and a former lieutenant-governor, has been approached by Social Credit members to run for the Victoria nomination.

"He is just the sort of candidate we are looking for," said a Social Credit official.

The Social Credit candidate will be nominated at a meeting of members in St. Andrew's Kirk Hall May 3.

City to Take Control Of View Street Lots

City council will assume control of two View Street lots needed for construction of an off-street parking garage on Thursday.

Council recently passed a special bylaw giving itself control of the two lots—part of the Z. M. Balcon estate—allowing the city to acquire property at Yates and Langley for construction of a second parking garage which will likely be adopted by council Thursday.

Two other lots are needed for the site of the garage but city officials believe expropriation will not be needed to acquire them.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: A good friend of mine needs help but she doesn't know it. She's a middle-aged widow, unbelievably naive but not stupid.

Mrs. X lives in a one-bedroom apartment with her son who is now 15 years old. The two of them share the bed.

I usually mentioned it was about time her son had a little privacy. She replied "Oh Buddy is just a baby."

Now you and I both know, Ann, that a 15-year-old boy should not be sharing a bedroom with any female—mother, sister, maid or friend. Please print this letter. She reads your column every day. —A FRIEND.

Dear Friend: You are absolutely right and I hope the woman sees this. If she wants information her doctor will gladly fill her in on the details.

Dear Readers: The following letter is from a South African reader. It is a poignant reminder that human problems are the same the world over.

Dear Ann: I am 23 and miserably married to a deadhead of 25. My family expected me to wed a man with social position if not money. I dated a young doctor steadily but we quarreled and I left for Johannesburg where I led a wild, carefree life. I got into financial trouble but was too proud to let my family know.

I left Johannesburg under a cloud and came here to Durban where I was determined to settle down. I met a very quiet chap who seemed intelligent and devoted. He paid my Johannesburg debts and I felt deeply obligated. Heaven knows why, but we were married in a civil ceremony.

Now I realize I made the biggest mistake of my life. We live in separate worlds. He is astonishingly limited in scope and interests and I am ashamed to introduce him to my family and former friends. I've tried to make this marriage work but the thought of having his child gives me the horrors. He's been decent to me and I just can't walk out but I know I'll never be happy with him. I need your advice.—THOROUGHLY CONFUSED.

Dear Confused: Trouble is universal and so are the basic principles of decency. You married this man. He may not be a red hot intellectual with a multiplicity of interests, but he has integrity and he's your husband. Stay with him and make the best of it. A girl with your temperament (and history) would probably do worse if she were free, not better.

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe you will think this is petty but my husband and I would like an answer regardless.

Two weeks ago a new man came to work in my husband's department. Once we were the "new people" in town and we were very lovely. We invited the couple to dinner. Our home is being remodelled so we agreed to meet them at a lovely steakhouse.

We were surprised to find they had brought along their two children. We have children, too, but we left them at home, since this was to be an adult get-acquainted party—or so we thought.

Their kids took over the entire conversation and my husband was boiling. They ordered sirloin steak dinners and left a three-fourths of the food on their plates. The bill was $32.

Were these people justified in bringing their children? Do you feel the parents should have allowed their youngsters to order expensive adult dinners?—V AND L.

Dear V and L: You should not criticize these people for bringing their children. They probably did not understand the invitation.

Allowing youngsters to take over the conversation is out of line, however. And so was the ordering bit. Every mother knows approximately how much food her children can devour. She should have ordered smaller cuts for them or divided one dinner in two.

Diocesan Board Needs Supplies

At a meeting of the diocesan board of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary, held in St. Paul's Church, Esquimalt, Mrs. F. C. Vaughan-Birch, prayer partner secretary, showed a map with places marked in which there are prayer partners, one as far away as New Zealand.

Mrs. B. P. Harding presided and Miss Jane Leigh, Dorcas secretary, announced that sewing and hospital supplies must be in by the first week in May; that oddments of print and sewing materials are needed for Indian women to make articles for their bazaars, and that knitting wool is needed for Cambridge Bay and Fort McPherson.

Treasurer, Mrs. F. A. Goodwin, announced receipts of $3,236.37 for the past two months; disbursements of $7,578.67, leaving a balance of $13,848.26. Legacy fund totals $13,407.16 and the care of the elderly fund, $2,094.17.

Juniors secretary, Mrs. L. Small, announced that St. Mary's, Metchosis, branch had reorganized and that rallies are planned at Cowichan and Comox in May.

Plans were made for a meeting in Memorial Hall lounge on May 7 at 2 p.m., to form a guild for the Caroline Mackinnon Home. Miss Kathleen Ironside, who left Victoria on Sunday for Toronto to be an assistant to Miss Mary Rendell, Dominion secretary of the W.A., was presented with a gift. Miss Ironside has worked in this diocese for three years.

Other reports were given by Mrs. H. E. Hubbard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. H. F. Ballantyne, who announced a

PRAYER MEETING
Prayer and healing study meeting will be held on Wednesday, April 25 in the Cathedral Memorial Hall at 3 p.m. Open to all.

Trends in Millinery

Youth and sophistication combine in the 1962 version of the breton. Best in high shades of navy or red . . . and in wonderfully rough braids, with a dash of femininity in draped organza at the crown. Wear your breton forward or back to suit your mood and your personality.

League Makes $430

The Quita Nichol Service League to Goodwill Enterprises held a successful coffee party and tea in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay Company, April 18. A large crowd attended, and $430 was realized.

Daffodils, narcissi and tulips centred the main table, flanked by yellow candles. Presiding at the coffee urns were: Mrs. Geo. Gray, Mrs. J. Hill, Mrs. J. Gibbs, Mrs. H. B. Clarke, Mrs. J. Lindsay, Mrs. N. Frumento, Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, Mrs. A. C. Wurtele, Mrs. Geo. Murdoch and Mrs. T. Morrison.

The president, Mrs. E. F. W. Cox welcomed the guests. General convener was Mrs. C. R. Oxtoby, assisted by Mrs. H. I. Mackenzie and Mrs. R. F. Gray. Convening the home cooking stalls were Mrs. J. Forbes and Mrs. T. Eastick. Mrs. L. P. Lawlor, Mrs. A. J. Bird and Mrs. G. A. Holloway were in charge of superfluities.

The WA to the Royal Jubilee Hospital is holding a "Centennial Tea" at the Nurses' Residence on Richmond Road, Wednesday, April 25 at 3 p.m. The idea behind this event is an endeavor to recall to memory those many local women who, through the years have contributed so much to the development of the hospital.

Miss Flora Hamilton Burns, one of Victoria's well-known pioneer women, will attend and talk on the early days.

Women in the city who are interested in the project, will be welcome.

Prayers and scripture reading were taken by Rev. J. A. Roberts, Miss E. Tuckett and Mrs. C. Fildew. President of St. Paul's W.A., Mrs. J. Smith, welcomed the 108 members present. ## Money Talks

Pedigree No Longer Qualifies

By PATRICIA CLOUGH

LONDON (Reuters) — Un- daunted by unspringlike weather, the London "spring season" is in full swing—bigger, faster and more expensive than ever.

To Britain's rich, the spring season has nothing to do with the weather. It is simply that all-important time when the debutantes "come out" in society.

Some thought the custom would be dealt a death-blow four years ago when the Queen ended the presentation of debutantes at court, but instead it ment things really opened up. Since the end of the court presentations, a girl no longer has to be "well-connected" to be a debut. Now all she needs is money—lots of it.

Newspaper social columnists estimate that some 600 girls will come out this year, compared with 400 last year and about 100 a few years ago.

Since the end of the court presentation, the season has been officially begun with the Queen Charlotte's birthday ball, a magnificent traditional affair started by the wife of King George III in the 18th century at which the girls, all dressed in white, troop down two curving staircases to curtsy in front of a ceremonial birthday cake.

Another must is the Berkeley charity dress show, where a chosen few model clothes amid popping flashbulbs and competition for the coveted honor of Deb of the Year awarded by social columnists.

Though pedigree is no longer a qualification, the high cost keeps the number of deb down. Experts estimate that before the season ends in July, a devoted parent can spend between $2,000 and $10,000 on clothes, beauty treatments and public-ity.

The problem of available, and acceptable, escorts is a major one and at least one London women's magazine draws up a list which it provides free to deb's mothers.

Hostesses fortunate enough to know the commanding officers of fashionable regiments simply get them to order the requisite number of young, unmarried subalterns to attend.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mrs. George Laird, 3888 Crestview Drive, entertained on Sunday afternoon in honor of her niece, Miss Linda Marrion and graduates of the Royal Jubilee School of Nursing, class of '62. The Easter theme was carried out in decorations of the room and floral arrangements were in the hospital colors, purple and gold. Mrs. Jack Metcalfe assisted by Mrs. Charlotte Yeamans and Mrs. Rod Hood presided at the tea table which was centred with an Easter egg type. Guests of honor were Miss E. M. Moore, director of nurses, and Mrs. A. K. Love, resident supervisor.

Return to Mainland

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. W. Baker and children, Susan and Stephen, have returned to their home in North Vancouver after spending the holiday weekend with Mr. Baker's parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Baker, Thompson Avenue. Mr. Colin Baker, who went to Mount Baker to ski at Easter, will come from Vancouver this weekend to visit his parents.

Miscellaneous Shower

A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Gibson, 936 Shirley Road, in honor of April bride-elect, Miss Marianne Bell. Co-hostesses were Mrs. D. Hall, Mrs. Geo. Wilson, Mrs. Robert Walker and Mrs. Lorne Hardwick. The decorations of green and yellow and the floral arrangements were done by Mrs. John Macdonald, who also made three pink camellia corsages for the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. Gordon Bell, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. Harold Hall. A hand-made lace cloth covered the refreshment table which was centred with a shower cake, flanked by pink candles in silver candlesticks. Others present were Mrs. P. Whitehead, Mrs. K. Gibson, Mrs. E. Cartland, Mrs. P. Jordan, Mrs. F. Jordan, Mrs. R. Lum, Mrs. S. Duruisseau and the Misses T. Gibson, G. Miller, Janet Gibson, J. Cartland, C. Jordan, Marion Lort, Joan Rogers and D. ### New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly blots disappear—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Advt.

A Maytime tea, fashion show and dessert party will be put on by the ladies of the Oak Bay United Church on May 2 in the church hall. From 2.30 to 4.30 p.m. tea, fashions, home cooking and plant sale will take place and the dessert party will follow in the evening at 7 p.m. There will also be a short program in the evening. Mrs. A. J. Bowering and Mrs. P. Bugslag are the co-conveners of the affair. Others taking part are, from left to right, Mrs. A. C. Mitchell, Mrs. T. V. Kennedy, Mrs. Cliff Burnip, Mrs. K. R. MacLeod and Mrs. R. J. Taylor.

Clubs and Societies

BLUE BIRD

The Victoria Blue Bird Majorettes will hold an Easter tea on April 25 in the Douglas Room, HBC, from 2 to 4 p.m. There will be door prizes and a floor show.

PURPLE STAR

Victoria Purple Star No. 104 Ladies' Benevolent Association, will hold a social evening at the home of Mrs. R. Stanfield, 1627 Amphion Street on Wednesday, April 25. Hostesses will be Mrs. E. Hume, Mrs. E. Bell and Mrs. H. Dent.

ST. PETER'S

Evening guild of St. Peter's Church will meet Wednesday, April 25, at 8 p.m. The speaker, however, is unable to come.

Heirloom Lace Veil Chosen by Bride

A double-ring ceremony non chose aquamarine nylon, united Caroline Jaynena Webb and Mr. James Glenister.

Bullen in marriage in St. Michael and All Angels Church, Royal Oak.

Rev. Canon J. Rogers officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Webb, Royal Oak, and the son of Mrs. W. S. Bullen and the late Mr. Bullen of Dawson Creek.

Masses of spring flowers banked the altar as the bride came down the aisle of the church on the arm of her father wearing an ivory satin gown fashioned with chapel train. She wore a 200-year-old veil of Lynton lace lent by Mrs. B. Hooie of Oldfield Road. She carried peach shades of Joana roses and a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Maid of honor, Miss Janeen Anthony was dressed in champagne nylon styled with full skirt and cummerbund waist. Her headdress was a single flower and veil to tone and she carried cream roses and pink heather. Two junior bridesmaids, Miss Suzanne Halverson and Miss Ruth Cannon chose aquamarine nylon, overbloused and with puff sleeves. Their pearl necklaces were the gift of the bride and they carried flowers identical to the maid of honor.

Best man was Mr. Rodney Calverley and ushers were Mr. Kenneth Mitchell and Mr. Howard Webb.

At the reception in the Women's Institute Hall, Royal Oak, the bride's table was centred by a three-tier cake iced by the bride's great aunt Mrs. C. Rippington. Music was played by Billy Tickle's quartet.

For a honeymoon in the States and a trip to the World's Fair, the new Mrs.

Bullen changed into a floral silk dress in cream with shades of gold and brown. On return they will reside at 2805 Cook Street.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. W. S. Bullen, Mrs. Halverson, Misses Laura and Linda Halverson all of Dawson Creek; Mr. and Mrs. John Bullen of Muncho Lake; Mr. and Mrs. John Webb and Diana of Fort St. John; Mr. and Mrs. C. Lucken of Sechart; Mr. and Mrs. W. Bradshaw of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. John Leasing of Honeymoon Bay; Miss Olsen with her mother from Washington; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Morrey of Sidney.

Most things are colourfast today, and you can depend on "Javex" to revive the colour that soap or detergent alone cannot. "Javex" brightens colourfast fabrics by removing foreign residue. Add "Javex" to your coloured laundry next washday and you'll see the bright new difference.

The wise housewife relies on JAVEX* completely.

After many washings in soap and detergent, this fabric appears dull and lifeless. The natural colour has gone almost to grey. The fabric surface is rough and hard.

"Javex" has lifted and dissolved dirt and grime to restore original brightness of colour. Now there's a better "look" to the fabric. Looks almost like new.

JAVEX is a registered trade mark.

TV TALK

By JIM TAYLOR

Television roles are catching department: Maurice Gosfield, who played Doberman on the old Phil Silvers show, has been playing the role again in real life. First he ran over a policeman's motorcycle. Then heavy rains sent his horse skidding 100 yards down a hill while Gosfield was on the telephone with a real estate man trying to sell it. . . . Sterling Silliphant may have set an all-time record this year. He wrote 42 scripts, all of them for Route 66 and Naked City. . . . Ichabod and Me and Window on Main Street have both been cancelled by CBS.

"What's this about Johnny Carson replacing Jack Paar? I thought Steve Allen was still replacing Jerry Lester."

August Moon, with David Wayne, John Forsythe and Myshel Umeki. . . . Double Gillis has been renewed for a fourth season and My Three Sons for a third.

Standard High At Dance Festival

By BERT MINNY

The Victoria centennial dance festival was away to a sparkling start yesterday at Victoria High School when seven classes performed before adjudicator Betty Jessiman.

Miss Jessiman, world's and British open Highland dancing champion, is over from Huntly in Aberdeenshire for the occasion.

Miss Jessiman noted "the standard of the Highland dancing was exceptionally good."

"The official board techniques," she added, "were particularly good. I have certainly enjoyed my first day."

Miss Jessiman also congratulated the organizers and officials of the festival. "Everything ran very smoothly," she said.

The morning session was occupied with novice competition in the Highland fling and sword dance. Competitors here were 10 years old or over. All the winners were from Victoria.

THREEWAY TIE
Mary Michael Stuart won the Highland fling, followed by Pamela Trythall. There was a three-way tie for third place, shared by Monica Thistle, Janet MacDonald and Catherine Gower.

In the sword dance Wendy Walton was first with Heather Croll right behind. Another third-place tie was between Debra Jennings, Danny Costain and Judy Daggett.

LONG AND LOUD
An important event in the afternoon was competition for the Vancouver Island Junior Highland dancing championship. The pipes skirled long and loudly here as there were many and each was required to perform the fling, sword dance and Seann Truibhas. True, they performed in relays but it took time.

The winner is to be announced at Saturday evening's honor performance.

The character solo for contestants five years and under was won by Lorraine Aitken with Elizabeth Jennings and Susan Walsh second and third respectively. The character group class, seven-and-under, went to the Vivian Briggs

Studios with their Irish jig. The sea-horses and the elf by the Katherine Costain School was second, and third place went to the sailorettes from the Adeline and Heather Duncan Studios.

NATIONAL SOLO
A quite outstanding class was the national solo, seven and under. Jennifer Angus won with a Hawaiian routine fully good-enough for much more advanced company. Cheryl Jackson's Irish number came second, followed by Rosemary Patterson's Scottish dance.

The Adeline and Heather Duncan Studios took the nine-and-under national group with an Irish reel, the seven-and-under national group with an Irish jig and the Scottish country dancing class, under 18, with Captain Ross.

MAIRI'S WEDDING
Braes of Balquidder and Mairi's Wedding by the Katherine Costain School were second and third in the Scottish country dancing.

The festival moves to Oak Bay Junior High today with sessions at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Adjudicated by Miss Janice Mitoff of the San Francisco Ballet Company, there will be classes in ballet, demi-caracter, soft shoe, interpretive and authentic folk dancing. Dancers from Seattle, Penitton, Edmonton and other centres are included among today's competitors.

Sally Ann Yields Right of Way

The Salvation Army will postpone its $50,000 fund drive for two weeks to allow the St. Joseph's Hospital building fund campaign to reach its objective.

Chairman of the Red Shield campaign, Courtney Haddock, announced yesterday the drive, originally scheduled to begin May 1, would not be launched until May 14.

The $350,000 hospital fund is still 70 per cent short of its objective.

Quality of Education Comes Before Quantity

The free world must stress quality of education rather than attempt to compete with the U.S.S.R. on the basis of quantity, Dr. I. McTaggart Cowan said in Victoria yesterday.

"In the past five years the U.S.S.R. and China have doubled the number of their (university) graduates," he said. "We can not compete in quantity and if we can not compete in quantity we must compete in quality."

"I am convinced that quantity is no longer important."

Dr. Cowan, head of the department of zoology at the University of British Columbia, was speaking at a lunchcon meeting of the men's Canadian Club of Victoria.

"It does disturb me when I see the overall average of students to teachers in the U.S.S.R. is 6.51 to 1," Dr. Cowan said.

Seven soldiers had been implicated originally but the army said that an eighth — a junior non-commissioned officer — has since been charged.

A defence department spokesman said courts — martial proceedings against the five — including one officer — are being arranged by the office of the army's judge advocate-general.

Other soldiers were dealt with summarily while in Indochina and still are in the army.

The department declined to name the five, disclose the specific charges against them or say where or when the court-martial would take place.

Defence Minister Harkness has declined comment on the grounds that it would be improper while the cases are before the judge advocate-general, the army's top lawyer.

Heathman Handed Over To Vancouver Police

Publisher Defends Actions

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Sun publisher Donald Cromie yesterday defended the actions of his newspaper in obtaining and publishing Charles Heathman's confession of murder, giving the confessor 12 hours before notifying authorities.

Mr. Cromie, whose newspaper broke the confession story last Saturday, said the man was in effect "seeking both a public confession in his own words and a public trial and verdict and he had had all and he is now reconciled to stand by them."

'Shocking Taste' —Bonner

Attorney-General Bonner last night called Mr. Cromie's statement "highly considered nonsense" which has only one redeeming feature, which is that he has accepted responsibility for the shocking had taste and carelessness which accompanied publication of this so-called statement.

"The plain fact is that the Vancouver Sun failed to think through the problem presented by the Heathman statement, and what was worse, failed to show any consideration for the position of public officials who must now clean up the mess."

Victoria Man Seeks Reward Fears Grudge

A Victoria man who was instrumental in the capture of Charles Heathman in Seattle said last night he hopes to collect the $1,000 reward money but is fearful of the consequences of his action.

Robert John McMichael, a 35-year-old radar technician who recently returned to Victoria after working on a DEW-Line job, told the Colonist from Seattle he asked police not to use his name.

"If this Heathman ever gets out ... he's a guy that carries a grudge. That's why I wanted it kept quiet," he said.

Mr. McMichael said, however, he plans to go to Vancouver today to claim the reward of $1,000 offered by a radio station for information leading to the arrest of 30-year-old Heathman.

Left Hurriedly

"Heathman would still be at large today unless I'd pointed him out," said Mr. McMichael. "So I guess that puts me in line for the reward."

Mr. McMichael said he entered a Seattle tavern Monday and was greeted by a friend who asked: "When did you get down here from Canada?" Immediately a man seated nearby put down his beer and hurriedly left the tavern.

"I got a good look at him and I knew it was Heathman because I saw his picture in a newspaper," said Mr. McMichael.

Mr. McMichael and his friend followed until the man entered another tavern about a block-and-a-half away, then they told their story to the patrolman on the beat.

Dead Boy's Mother Starts Trial Petition

VERNON (CP)—The mother of Donald Otley Tuesday began a campaign to have Charles Heathman brought to trial again for the murder of the 10-year-old boy he now admits killing two years ago.

Mrs. Ada Oliver and friends have begun a house-to-house canvass to collect names on a petition asking authorities for a new trial for Heathman, despite the double jeopardy law under which a person once acquitted cannot be tried again for the same crime.

Mrs. Oliver said she was always convinced of Heathman's guilt despite his acquittal.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charles Heathman, who publicly confessed to the killing of 10-year-old newsboy Donald Otley, was brought here from Seattle Tuesday night.

Heathman, 39, was lodged in the city jail and is expected to appear in police court today on a charge under the Mental Hospitals Act.

DEPORTED

Ordered deported from the United States after being arrested in Seattle Monday, Heathman was handed over to Vancouver city police and RCMP at the Douglas border crossing 35 miles south of here.

NOT CONTESTED

U.S. immigration authorities said Heathman, twice sentenced to hang for the killing but later acquitted by the B.C. Court of Appeal, did not contest the deportation order issued on the grounds that he failed to declare his admitted criminal record when he entered the United States Saturday.

'MENTALLY ILL'

Heathman was taken into custody at Douglas under a warrant alleging that he is "mentally ill and too dangerous to be at large."

30-Storey Apartment Planned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plans have been submitted to the city for a 30-storey apartment block in Vancouver's central West End area. The building would be Canada's tallest west of Toronto. The $3,000,000 structure would incorporate 300 suites, an enclosed swimming pool and covered parking.

Kennedy Right About Summit Nikita Agrees

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. publisher said Tuesday night Premier Khrushchev has reversed his policy on a summit meeting with President Kennedy and now agrees the two should meet again only if there is prior agreement on crucial issues or if war threatens.

Khrushchev disclosed his stand last Friday in an interview at the Kremlin with Gardner Cowles, president and editor of Look magazine and president of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company.

In the discussion, the 68-year-old Russian leader expressed hope that major warfare could be avoided.

But he voiced support for what he called defensive and national-liberation wars. And he made it clear he had little expectation of any quick world disarmament agreement.

FIRST MEETING

Khrushchev told Cowles that he had gained a "favorable impression" from the American president when he met him in the first personal encounter in Vienna last June.

Khrushchev gave his appraisal of the meeting when Cowles asked if he thought would be useful "if a summit meeting were held in the near future or if you, for example, invited President Kennedy to the Soviet Union to discuss matters with him."

"Noting that he always believed such contacts are useful, Khrushchev replied: 'The conversations I had with your president in Vienna left a favorable impression on me.'"

"The main thing now is — and I agree with the president of the United States in this respect — that our meeting should not prove sterile."

Any Day Now

A-Tests in Pacific Get Go-Ahead Sign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Tuesday gave the final okay for a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere. The shots are expected to begin in the Pacific within a few days, perhaps less.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced the tests will begin "as soon as it is operationally feasible."

This means, a commission spokesman said, that the first explosion may be touched off in one to several days depending on the weather and other conditions.

BIG TASK FORCE

The test series will be carried out by a 12,000-man task force which has been assembled with a fleet of ships and planes.

At some time during the two or three months of the trials there will be proof tests of fully armed nuclear weapons, including intercontinental ballistic missiles and Polaris rockets launched from submarines.

10-MEGATON RANGE

The biggest blast is expected to be in the 10-megaton range, equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of TNT. This would be considerably smaller than the 50-megaton device the Russians were reported to have exploded in their Arctic tests last fall.

The initial explosion probably will be low altitude shots and are likely to be conducted in the Christmas Island area, followed by high altitude tests in the Johnston Island area in May.

RUSSIAN THREAT

Kennedy announced March 2 that the United States would have to resume atmospheric testing toward the end of April unless the Russians agreed to a fully safeguarded ban on nuclear testing.

The Soviets have threatened to start another series of tests of their own if the United States goes ahead with the Pacific trials.

WILL HOLD GOOD

Administration officials stress that Kennedy's offer to join in a foolproof pact against testing will hold good until the last minute.

THE ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that President Kennedy has authorized the commission and the department of defence to proceed with a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere over the Pacific.

"The tests, to be conducted by Joint Task Force 8 under the command of Maj.-Gen. A. D. Starbird, will begin as soon as it is operationally feasible."

'Prestige Loss Aids Liberals'

Seamen Desert Again

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Two British seamen literally jumped ship here Tuesday.

A Canadian customs official, J. S. Moore, identified the men as Allen Oxberry, 31, a deckhand, and Ian Kelly, 21, a second cook.

IN CUSTODY

Moore took Kelly into custody as he landed on a pier off the deck of the British freighter Kirramoor and then took into custody Oxberry, who had leaped the ships railing into the water.

After the two leaped the ship kept going.

'NO FUN'

Moore said they had first jumped ship two weeks ago in New Westminster, B.C.

A Humboldt County sheriff's spokesman said the men told him they didn't want to go with the Kirramoor because she was bound for Red China and "you can't have any fun there."

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Washington Star suggests that Canadian prestige abroad has declined and that this "rather nebulous" issue is something the Liberals could exploit in the June 18 Canadian election.

"This is a point on which Canadians are sensitive," The Star says in an editorial commenting on the Canadian election fight. "They have, married, and understandably so, any implication of 'junior partnership' with either Great Britain or the United States."

'FRUSTRATED'

The Star suggests also that Canadians are gripped by a mood of national frustration and restlessness which the election may help to dispel.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's charge that the opposition engaged in delaying tactics in Parliament and that this is one reason for an early election is seen by The Star as one aspect of this frustration.

HOLD THE SEATS

But the prime minister's exasperated reason for calling for the vote "suffers from the fact that Mr. Diefenbaker's Progressive Conservatives hold 203 seats by The Star as one aspect of this frustration."

Remorse

LINDSEY, England (UPI)—A cat that killed a rabbit here today was reported mauling the rabbit's young.

Missile Success Explodes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The success strings of two U.S. military missiles—Minuteman and Pershing—ended abruptly in a pair of spectacular explosions Tuesday.

RUDDY BUNDS

The Minuteman blasted out of an underground silo Tuesday night on an intended 4,000-mile test flight and some 40 seconds later blew apart. Huge hunks of flaming debris splashed into the Atlantic Ocean just offshore.

Several hours earlier, a Pershing military missile slipped off the cape and met the same fate. It went off course and was destroyed by the safety officer.

The failures snapped a seven-shot success streak for the Minuteman, all from the silo, and a 13-in-a-row record for the Pershing.

Reds See 'Bad End' To Geneva Talks

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union rejected again Tuesday American and British demands for an international inspection system to safeguard a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests.

Soviet delegate Samyon Tsarapkin told United States Ambassador Arthur Dean and British Minister of State Joseph Gorbier the negotiations for a test-ban agreement "will come to an inglorious end" if the Western powers maintain their control demands.

Neither Tsarapkin nor the two Western delegates referred to the forthcoming U.S. atmospheric test series in the Pacific. Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin threatened last week to lead a Soviet bloc walkout if the American tests take place as scheduled.

Macmillan Resigned

LONDON (CP-AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan heads for the United States and Canada today, reported to be resigned to resumed U.S. nuclear testing but hoping to find ways to getting the stalled Geneva disarmament talks back on the rails. Macmillan will be in the United States until Sunday, when he heads for Ottawa.

LETTERS to the Editor

To be considered for publication in whole or in part letters must be of general interest, not more than 300 words in length, and if signed with a pen name, must be accompanied by the writer's name and address.

I note with interest Peter Bruton's column in your Sunday issue. While this answer is from the green, green grass and not top brass, I hope you will bear with me.

Firstly, I am very surprised to find that Mr. Bruton, a man who speaks with some authority, could have made such an error as to say I am from the interior. Your columnist cannot have been in this province for very long; he might rather have said I was a little up Fraser Valley solicitor or a hick from the sticks in our fair capital, but an outsider from the interior is completely wrong. Rather I am an insider on the outside trying to get a look in.

Secondly, I should think that he who writes a column should get his facts straight. The reporter from the Colonist did not take notes but purposedly closed his note book. I think a columnist should not indulge in hearsay, politically that is, but should attend some of the meetings of the candidate and obtain his facts correctly.

As to his non-defence, or his defence of no speeches in the House of Commons, or such other nonsense—I will say nothing. I think the length of his column speaks for itself and shows most certainly his slant. As Mr. Bruton noted in his first interview, he rather liked me and I wish to say this feeling is mutual, even though he may be a smooth-skinned Tory.

Yours for more of that stuff called political naïveté sprinkled on the green grass.
FOSTER ISHERWOOD,

Litter on the Streets

A letter by a local lady referred to the filth on the streets in our city. I personally can speak, as I find in this district alone...

I personally don't think it was necessary for the city to buy new fangled garbage cans. It may have helped the contractor who supplied them, but was a waste of money of the taxpayers.

What we need is more parents of old-time type who train their children from almost babyhood to be tidy.

It seems there is a great laxity on the part of parents these days to do that old-time type of training, which we see so little of in these days in many other ways...

A. B. MARSHALL,

Cleanest of Cities

In regard to Mrs. M. B. Baylis's letter of the 19th, I have travelled back and forth from Montana to Victoria for the past several years and never have I seen a cleaner city.

The citizens of Victoria have a pride in their city that cannot be surpassed. There are a lot of old buildings, yes, but you'll find that no matter which city you are in. The homes are well kept and made as attractive as humanly possible.

I would like to take this opportunity also to thank the people of Victoria for all the courtesies shown us while we have been in Victoria and shall always look forward to returning.

MRS. STANLEY EAST,
571 State.
Helena, Montana.

Have Moral Courage Women Tell Kennedy

MONTREAL (CP)—The voice of Women, a Canadian organization urging universal disarmament, sent a message to President Kennedy Tuesday asking him "to have the moral courage" to call off nuclear tests.

The VoW sent messages at the same time to Premier Khrushchev of Russia and Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain.

Mr. Khrushchev was told he will earn the gratitude of humanity if he refuses to resume nuclear testing, no matter what the United States does.

Mr. Macmillan was asked to use his influence with the American president "to break this vicious circle of nuclear testing, which jeopardizes all hope of nuclear disarmament."

The message was signed by Mrs. Helen Tucker of Toronto, president, and Mrs. Therese Casgrain of Montreal, vice-president.

Liberals Protest CBC Time Split

OTTAWA (CP)—Walter L. Gordon, a Liberal campaign chairman of the Liberal party, said Tuesday night the party "objects strongly" to the Board of Broadcast Governors' division of free CBC network time for electioneering.

The board gave the Progressive Conservatives nine 15-minute periods, the Liberals seven.

New Democrats five and Social Credit three.

"It discriminates against the Liberals," Mr. Gordon said in a statement.

He said that representatives of the four parties agreed on a time division Saturday. The BBG decision "ignores the agreement reached on Saturday by representatives of the four parties."

He said the Saturday meeting agreed to give the Conservatives 8 1/2 broadcast periods, the Liberals 7 1/2, the New Democrats 5 1/2 and the Social Credit 2 1/2.

Allister Grosart, national director of the Progressive Conservative party, said last night "there was absolutely no agreement reached Saturday."

Market Bid Next

Made in Canada Plan Profits U.S. Firm

OTTAWA (CP)—An American industrial executive said Tuesday a "made in Canada" approach paid his company dividends in its Canadian operations and revealed a way to compete in the European Common Market.

IMPORTS OUT

C. R. Jones, general manager of Cooper-Bessemer of Canada Limited, said his firm's decision to produce heavy machinery at Stratford, Ont., has provided jobs for Canadians and lessened the amount of imported equipment used in the Canadian petroleum, natural gas and other industries.

DOUBLE EFFECT

The clue to success, he suggested, was having more than 40 existing Canadian manufacturers supply most of the necessary components to be assembled by the wholly-owned American subsidiary.

This had the double-barrelled effect of keeping the wheels of production turning for the suppliers and lowering Cooper-Bessemer's own capital investment. The result proved so satisfactory that the American parent company now was planning to adopt the same approach in its European operations.

Mr. Jones was among more than 50 delegates to present technical papers Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy. Other papers dealt with such topics as the increasing importance of certain industrial minerals in Canada's economy, oil and gas prospects in eastern Canada and ocean research.

WAS REJECTED

Mr. Jones said his company which makes piston-heads, cylinders, compressors and other equipment, originally sought to manufacture these products in the same way as in the U.S. In view of Canada's smaller market, this type of scaled-down operation was rejected as uneconomical.

MARKET PROBLEM

A paper on Canadian sulphur prospects, presented by International Sulphur Company Limited, said Canada faced growing marketing difficulties as production expanded without a corresponding increase in demand. The basic problem was the high transportation cost of moving sulphur from its major source of supply in Alberta to North American markets and ports for export.

Great Lakes

Varsity Teams To Stage Blasts

TORONTO (CP)—Scientific teams from Canadian and United States universities are to conduct a series of explosions on the bottom of Lake Superior to measure the thickness of the earth's crust in North America.

Dr. R. J. Uffen, principal of the university college of arts and science, University of Western Ontario, said in an interview Tuesday the joint project is expected to confirm one of the main theories on the formation of the continent.

COUNCIL APPROVES

"We suspect that the continent—which is the crust—grew from inside the earth," he said. "We need to measure the thickness of the crust in both continental and ocean areas to evaluate this theory."

Luxurious Theatre Planned in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Famous Players Canadian Corp. Ltd. will build a luxurious new movie theatre in Toronto, J. J. Fitzgibbon, president, told the company's annual meeting Tuesday.

He did not elaborate on plans because negotiations for the site have not been completed, but it was understood the theatre would be outside the main downtown area.

A company spokesman said famous players believes competition from television, which has hit motion picture theatres hard, may be said to have reached its peak.

Socreds Lose TV Time To Tories

OTTAWA (CP)—The Conservatives gained at the expense of the Social Credit Party Tuesday in the final division of free CBC network time for electioneering.

Liberals and New Democrats retain the same proportion of free time as they had in the 1958 election, under the arbitrary split made by the Board of Broadcast Governors.

The BBG had to step in as a court of last resort when the four parties were unable to agree among themselves on how to share the 26 hours of court of last resort when the time was divided.

PICKING FORMULA

Picking the formula that apportioned the 26 hours of agreement in a meeting here last Saturday, the governors gave this breakdown of 15-minute periods on each of the four main CBC networks:

Progressive Conservatives nine, Liberals seven, New Democrats five, and Social Credit three.

peared closest to all-party three. The only change from 1958 is that Social Credit loses one quarter-hour period to the Conservatives.

34 FREE HOURS

This formula applies on a total of 34 free network hours—six hours on each—on the CBC English television network of 82 stations, the French TV network of 17 stations, the Trans-Canada radio network with its 120 stations and the French radio network, which has 38 outlets.

The same 3-7-5-3 ratio will apply to the two free hours that the CBC will provide on its Dominion radio network, which consists of 50 stations.

COVERS TWO MONTHS

The total free time will be spread over the two months leading to the June 18 federal general election.

In previous years, the division of the time has been based roughly on the proportion of Commons seats held by each party.

Gale Cuts Lines

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Winds gusting up to 72 miles an hour swept across Prince George Tuesday causing power failures when trees toppled onto hydro lines.

Suddenly It's Summer In Prairie Cities

EDMONTON (CP)—Record high temperatures for April 24 were set Tuesday at several western Prairie cities. All temperatures were in the 80s.

Monroe saw recorded 85, three degrees higher than the previous high maximum for April 24 in 1910.

Medicine Hat had 83 compared with the previous high set in 1927 and equalled in 1952.

Supreme Court Islander Loses Case

OTTAWA (CP)—John C. Jackson Limited of North Pender Island, B.C., lost a damage action in the Supreme Court of Canada Tuesday against five insurance companies for the loss of a cargo of 400 tons of raw herring.

The fish were being moved in 1958 to Shingle Bay, B.C., in the vessel Mina C from the Queen Charlotte Islands. The ship sprang a leak in the engine room and the vessel's pumps were put out of action. The holds of the ship filled with water and by the time she was towed to Shingle Bay the cargo of herring was in an advanced stage of deterioration. The company sought damages on grounds that the cargo was lost due to the sinking of the vessel. It contended that it was insured against sinking under its insurance policies.

The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that there was no sinking of the vessel within the meaning of the insurance policies holding that sinking has occurred in the court's reasons for judgment which remained afloat and ment he is unable "to overcome was ultimately brought safely to the difficulty which I find in the dockside for unloading."

A WORD TO THE WIVES....

See this car? It's a Chevy II. It's also the biggest breakthrough in feminine motoring since the closed-in top. The wheel takes little more than the charm of your touch. It parks in a pinch (if you'll excuse the expression), and it's astonishing how it turns the touch of your dainty toe into blazing go. Lots of groceries and kids. Dependable as an old Dutch housekeeper. And the clincher? Its performance is so outstanding, your husband likely has his eye on it already... a word from the wife should be sufficient.

Neighbors Plow Fields

It's Wonderful to Have Friends

Gordon Rendle has tangible proof that he has many good friends.

The 38-year-old Central Saanich dairy farmer broke his ankle three weeks ago in a fall while building a barn on his 120-acre property at 2880 Tanner Road.

Since then his friends on neighboring farms have pitched in to take over operation of the farm which has 100 head of dairy cattle.

They spread fertilizer on his fields, hauled hay, and most recently brought 14 tractors to handle spring plowing.

By the end of the day a total of 40 acres were plowed, harrowed and seeded with spring oats and field corn crops.

"I can tell you it's wonderful to have friends," Mr. Rendle said last night.

He recalled much the same situation three years ago when he dislocated a shoulder and friends pitched in to help.

"That's the part that's hard to take," said Mr. Rendle.

"The fellows were joking about it yesterday. I guess they're resigned by now to coming along every three or four years to plow my fields," he said.

Mr. Rendle has farmed in this area all his life, and has occupied his present property for six years. His leg will remain in a plaster cast for three more months.

Those who provided assistance yesterday with plowing are:

Dick Mutrie, Bob Godfrey, Pat Hoole, Judy Wright, John Looy, Joe Saville, Raymond Reimer, Eddy Raper, Harold Luney, Frank Edgell, Jim Hudson of Butler Bros., David Bapty, Fred Calendar and Wally Mar.

Daylight Saving Starts Sunday

B.C. residents will lose an hour of sleep this weekend.

Clocks will be moved ahead one hour officially at 2 a.m. Sunday and daylight saving time will run until Oct. 28—a month longer than last year. The extra time was agreed to by the government after representations from B.C. Federation of Agriculture.

Sooke Resignation Issue

Angry Walkout Divides Board

Pearson Paying 'Informal' Visit

Liberal Leader Lester Pearson will make an informal visit to Vancouver Island centres Tuesday.

He will make speeches in the Comox area and in Victoria but no major rallies will be held, a Liberal party spokesman said yesterday.

Mr. Pearson will fly to Comox Tuesday morning and spend some hours there before flying to Victoria late in the afternoon.

He will leave Victoria early the following morning to return to the mainland.

Details of his visit to the island are still being arranged, the spokesman said, but informality will be the keynote all the way.

Mr. Pearson will be the first national political leader to visit Victoria in the federal election campaign.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is expected to visit the city early in May but no details of his visit have been announced.

Tentative arrangements have been made for New Democratic Party leader Tommy Douglas to visit Vancouver Island May 15 but no firm commitments have been made.

Two trustees marched angrily out of the meeting last night after Sooke school board voted 3 to 2 in favor of accepting the resignation of chairman John S. Williams.

Mr. Williams, who offered to rescind his earlier letter of resignation, said following the meeting he will seek reappointment to the board "at the first opportunity."

The issue which caused the split in board ranks was administration of adjoining Belmont Senior High and Elizabeth Fisher Junior High. Each at present has its own vice-principal, but there is only one principal for the two schools.

LAY ON TABLE

Mr. Williams submitted his resignation after the board voted at its last meeting to set up separate administrations for each school under its own principal.

Trustees unanimously voted to lay his letter of resignation on the table until the next board meeting, which was held last night.

BEFORE VOTE

Mr. Williams' second letter, requesting rescinding of his resignation, was placed on the agenda for the meeting. But it was not formally considered before a vote was taken which tallied 3 to 2 in favor of accepting the chairman's resignation.

Two trustees who opposed the move, Mrs. Isabella Reader and Fred H. Boulter, left the meeting in the words of one, "in disgust."

DENIED RIGHT

Mrs. Reader later charged the issue of administration in the two schools was decided by "illegal vote" when the chairman on that occasion, Mr. Williams, was denied the right of casting the deciding vote.

She added that when the board voted unanimously to table Mr. Williams' resignation it gave the chairman a vote of confidence.

RIGHT QUERIED

No acting chairman had been appointed by the board in the interim and therefore Mrs. Reader questioned the right of vice-chairman Don Roberts to take the chair for last night's meeting.

Mr. Williams said he considered the form of the meeting "entirely out of order" when it commenced with the vice-chairman in the chair.

NOT PROPERLY

He said this was done despite the fact his own resignation was still tabled and the subject was not properly open for discussion.

Mr. Williams said he reconsidered his resignation after "many" residents of the area served by Belmont and Elizabeth Fisher schools told him they supported his stand.

BOUND TO REACT

"I deplore this whole matter," said Mr. Williams. "It is bound to react on the schools of the district. Although it may seem rather ridiculous to some people, all my actions including my resignation were taken in the best interests of education and the children."

Man Rescued From Smoke

A young East Indian, overcome by smoke in his home, was taken to hospital last night after a neighbor noticed smoke billowing from his house and turned in an alarm.

Sohan Singh Jassi, 27, of 2844 Blackwood, was unconscious when found in the kitchen of his home by deputy fire chief William Henly.

The deputy pulled the man from the house, and both oxygen and artificial respiration were applied until a police ambulance arrived.

The smoke victim was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where his condition later was reported satisfactory.

His wife is a patient in the maternity ward of the same hospital where she had a baby a few days ago.

Audain Sacred Choice?

Reports that prominent city resident James Audain will be nominated Social Credit candidate for Victoria for the June 18 federal election circulated yesterday.

Mr. Audain, a grandson of James Dunsinuir, who was premier of the province in 1902 and a former lieutenant-governor, has been approached by Social Credit members to run for the Victoria nomination.

"He is just the sort of candidate we are looking for," said a Social Credit official.

The Social Credit candidate will be nominated at a meeting of members in St. Andrew's Kirk Hall May 3.

Ruling Changed—Chinese Bride Can Come Here

A Victoria Chinese who was forced to abandon his bride in Hong Kong when she was denied admission to Canada said yesterday, on the heels of immigration department clearance, he will bring her here as soon as possible.

Lee Wing Ting said this last night after a telegram from Immigration Minister Fairclough confirmed an earlier letter granting entry to Canada to the girl he awaits at his home, 807 King's Road.

The telegram was a late development in a battle between city lawyer David Hummel and the department of citizenship and immigration.

FAIRCLOUGH SAID

Earlier, Mr. Hummel had denied receiving the letter which Mrs. Fairclough said was mailed April 11.

He said that, on April 18, the day the Colonist told the story of the enforced separation of the young couple, a letter was received by Mr. Lee's father asking that he and his family appear before Victoria immigration authorities.

NO WORD SENT?

Second, on April 16, Mr. Lee was told by immigration officials in Hong Kong they had not received any word from Ottawa.

Mrs. Fairclough said the letter was sent to Lee April 11 and there is "no controversy at all."

Both Mr. Hummel and his client denied receiving the letter. Mr. Hummel wired Ottawa:

"Local press reports you sent me letter April 11, stating Lee's bride now admissible to Canada.

"No such letter received by me. Please wire if... bride admissible and send copy of letter."

Five hours later, a telegram signed by Immigration Minister Fairclough reached Victoria, saying: "I wrote you April 11 provisionally approving wife's admission. Sending registered mail today copy of letter."

PROVISIONALLY

"I don't know what this word 'provisionally' means. I would interpret it to mean we still haven't got final approval," said Mr. Hummel.

He added the change of ruling was "only correcting a wrong which clearly and obviously should not have occurred in the first place."

DEADLINE MIGHT

The controversy flared following a deadline set by the lawyer, who had asked the department to reverse an earlier decision to bar Mr. Man Wah, Lee's bride, from Canada. Lee, a Canadian citizen, married the girl in Hong Kong in January.

"A number of these immigration injustices have come to my personal attention," said Mr. Hummel. "It appears to me that when a decision of the minister which by its very nature is not subject to review in the courts, is involved, her department appears to have little or no reference to commonly accepted principles of justice and the spirit of the Bill of Rights."

City to Take Control Of View Street Lots

City council will assume control of two View Street lots needed for construction of an off-street parking garage on Thursday.

Council recently passed a special bylaw giving itself control of the two lots—part of the Z. M. Balcom estate—with the price to be fixed through court action.

It is believed the city will give two months' notice to occupiers of stores on the property.

Two other lots are needed for the site of the garage but city officials believe expropriation will not be needed to acquire them.

A second special bylaw, to allow council to acquire property at Yates and Langley for construction of a second parking garage will likely be adopted by council Thursday.

Family or Career?

Compromise Ends Teacher Problem

CAMPBELL RIVER — A compromise decision has been reached in the local school district 72 dispute over whether married female teachers should choose between a family and a career.

School trustees and officials of the local district teachers' association have agreed that such teachers should resign at five months of pregnancy.

IF SO DESIRE

They could then re-apply at the second month after the baby's birth, if they so desire.

This policy will be drafted into regulation form and submitted to the next school board meeting May 1 for final approval.

LEAVE REJECTED

A proposal that a pregnant teacher be granted leave of absence with pay was rejected, since the substitute teacher would only be appointed on a temporary basis.

Schools superintendent James Logle said no clause in the schools act compels a teacher to resign for family reasons.

TRAILER CAMPS

The board denied a request that parents in trailer camps set up for the Bayward Road improvement project be reimbursed $1 a day per child for the cost of transporting the children to the school bus terminal.

The board felt this was the contractors' responsibility. It also was noted trailer camps do not pay any school taxes.

PORT ALBERNI—This constituency has been short-changed in government expenditure on roads, MLA John Squire said following a week-end trip to the Uclulet-Tofino area.

He said there had never been any government money spent on construction of forest access roads in this district although other parts of B.C. had received funds through mining and forestry departments.

INDUSTRIAL ROAD

Mr. Squire said the Alberni-Tofino road is primarily an industrial road. Whether or not funds are forthcoming from the highways department, some of the monies voted for road construction by mining and forestry departments should go to reconstruction and relocation of the highway.

IN FIRST PLACE

"Industrial growth and recreational development on the coast warrant improvements to that road," he declared. "Sections of the road were poorly constructed in the first place, and now with the condition of the roadbed, the smallness of the crew and lack of equipment it is impossible to keep it in good condition."

ALMOST FINISHED

He reported excellent progress on the provincial camping site at Long Beach where approximately 30 tent areas are practically completed. Main roads into the grounds are graded and gravelled. Tables and other facilities will be installed and everything will be ready for the summer influx of tourists.

Popularity of Long Beach as a holiday spot was impressed on him when he saw campers on the beach in the rain last weekend.

CONTINUOUSLY

He said a letter had been forwarded drawing attention of the management to a clause in the contract stipulating that work was to proceed continuously until completion.

It was stated no work had been done for several weeks on the project started by Heath Construction last Nov. 21. The board had paid close to $17,000 of the total amount of the tender, $28,000.

FIGURES GIVEN

They were $45,550 for the four-room John Howitt School to be built at the end of Tebo Road and $40,422 for the Macbelle three-classroom building.

Other tenders were: Port Alberni Home Builders, $45,876 on the Howitt school, $43,445 on Macbelle; J. E. Millhouse Construction Ltd., North Vancouver, $47,388 and $43,745; M and G Construction Ltd., Victoria, $46,220 and $44,220.

Magistrate Spares Erring Motorist Extra Term in Jail

NANAIMO—Police court Magistrate Lionel Beever-Potts' interpretation of the Criminal Code yesterday saved Port Alberni motorist Ron Cleven from at least an extra three months in jail.

Cleven withdrew a plea of not guilty to an impaired driving charge placed against him in March, then pleaded guilty to that charge and a similar one laid during the Easter weekend.

FOR THREE YEARS

He was sentenced to three months in jail, the maximum for a second impaired-driving offence, and his driver's licence was suspended for three years.

Cleven had a former conviction in Aldergrove. The Criminal Code stipulates a jail term of 14 days to three months for a second offence, and a term of six to 12 months for a third.

NOTIFICATION

Magistrate Beever-Potts said, however, he could not consider Cleven a third offender since he only had formal notification of the one prior conviction, and this formal notification also is stipulated in the code.

'Short Change' Charged

PORT ALBERNI—This constituency has been short-changed in government expenditure on roads, MLA John Squire said following a week-end trip to the Uclulet-Tofino area.

Heathman Handed Over To Vancouver Police

Publisher Defends Actions

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Sun publisher Donald Cromie yesterday defended the actions of his newspaper in obtaining and publishing Charles Heathman's confession of murder, giving the confessor 12 hours before notifying authorities.

Mr. Cromie, whose newspaper broke the confession story last Saturday, said the man was in effect "seeking both a public confession in his own words and a public trial and verdict and he has had all and he is now content to stand by them."

'Shocking Taste' —Bonner

Attorney-General Bonner last night called Mr. Cromie's statement "highly criticized nonsense" which has only one redeeming feature, which is that he has accepted responsibility for the shocking bad taste and carelessness which accompanied publication of this so-called statement.

"The plain fact is that the Vancouver Sun failed to think through the problem presented by the Heathman statement, and what was worse, failed to show any consideration for the position of public officials who must now clean up the mess."

Victoria Man Seeks Reward Fears Grudge

A Victoria man who was instrumental in the capture of Charles Heathman in Seattle said last night he hopes to collect the $1,000 reward money but is fearful of the consequences of his action.

Robert John McMichael, a 35-year-old radar technician who recently returned to Victoria after working on a DEW-Line job, told the Colonist from Seattle he asked police not to use his name.

"If this Heathman ever gets out ... he's a guy that carries a grudge. That's why I wanted it kept quiet," he said.

Mr. McMichael said, however, he plans to go to Vancouver today to claim the reward of $1,000 offered by a radio station for information leading to the arrest of 30-year-old Heathman.

"Heathman would still be at large today unless I'd pointed him out," said Mr. McMichael. "So I guess that puts me in line for the reward."

Mr. McMichael said he entered a Seattle tavern Monday and was greeted by a friend who asked: "When did you get down here from Canada?" Immediately a man seated nearby put down his beer and hurriedly left the tavern.

"I got a good look at him and I knew it was Heathman because I saw his picture in a newspaper," said Mr. McMichael.

Mr. McMichael and his friend followed until the man entered another tavern about a block and-a-half away, then they told their story to the patrolman on the beat. Mr. McMichael is visiting Seattle to attend the world's fair. His parents live at 1205 Tattersall Drive.

Dead Boy's Mother Starts Trial Petition

VERNON (CP)—The mother of Donald Otley Tuesday began a campaign to have Charles Heathman brought to trial again for the murder of the 10-year-old boy he now admits killing two years ago.

Heathman, now held by police in Vancouver, was twice sentenced to be hanged for murder.

but finally freed by the B.C. Court of Appeal last December. Mrs. Ada Oliver and friends have begun a house-to-house canvass to collect names on a petition asking authorities for a new trial for Heathman.

Mrs. Oliver said she was always convinced of Heathman's guilt despite his acquittal.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Charles Heathman, who publicly confessed to the killing of 10-year-old newsboy Donald Otley, was brought here from Seattle Tuesday night.

Heathman, 30, was lodged in the city jail and is expected to appear in police court today on a charge under the Mental Hospital Act.

DEPORTED

Ordered deported from the United States after being arrested in Seattle Monday, Heathman was handed over to Vancouver city police and RCMP at the Douglas border crossing 35 miles south of here.

NOT CONTESTED

U.S. immigration authorities said Heathman, twice sentenced to hang for the killing but later acquitted by the B.C. Court of Appeal, did not contest the deportation order issued on the grounds that he failed to declare his admitted criminal record when he entered the United States Saturday.

'MENTALLY ILL'

Heathman was taken into custody at Douglas under a warrant alleging that he is "mentally ill and too dangerous to be at large."

Best Seller

30-Storey Apartment Planned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plans have been submitted to the city for a 30-storey apartment block in Vancouver's central West End area. The building would be Canada's tallest west of Toronto. The $3,000,000 structure would incorporate 200 suites, an enclosed swimming pool and covered parking.

Kennedy Right About Summit Nikita Agrees

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. publisher said Tuesday night Premier Khrushchev has reversed his policy on a summit meeting with President Kennedy and now agrees the two should meet again only if there is prior agreement on critical issues or if war threatens.

Khrushchev disclosed his stand last Friday in an interview at the Kremlin with Gardner Cowles, president and editor of Look magazine and president of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company.

In the discussion, the 68-year-old Russian leader expressed hope that major warfare could be avoided.

But he voiced support for what he called defensive and national-liberation wars. And he made it clear he had little expectation of any quick world disarmament agreement.

FIRST MEETING

Khrushchev told Cowles that he had gained a "favorable impression" from the American president when he met him in the first personal encounter in Vienna last June.

Khrushchev gave his appraisal of the meeting when Cowles asked if he thought would be useful "if a summit meeting were held in the near future or if you, for example, invited President Kennedy to the Soviet Union to discuss matters with him?"

Noting that he always believed such contacts are useful, Khrushchev replied:

"The conversations I had with your president in Vienna left a favorable impression on me."

"The main thing now is — and I agree with the president of the United States in this respect — that our meeting should not prove sterile."

'Prestige Loss Aids Liberals'

Seamen Desert Again

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—Two British seamen literally jumped ship here Tuesday.

A Canadian customs official, J. S. Moore, identified the men as Allen Oxberry, 31, a deck hand, and Ian Kelly, 21, a second cook.

IN CUSTODY

Moore took Kelly into custody as he landed on a pier off the deck of the British freighter Kirriamoor and then took into custody Oxberry, who had leaped the ship railing into the water.

After the two leaped the ship kept going.

NO FUN

Moore said they had first jumped ship two weeks ago in New Westminster, B.C.

A Humboldt County sheriff's spokesman said the men told him they didn't want to go with the Kirriamoor because she was bound for Red China and "you can't have any fun there."

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Washington Star suggests that Canadian prestige abroad has declined and that this "rather nebulous" issue is something the Liberals could exploit in the June 18 Canadian election.

"This is a point on which Canadians are sensitive," the Star says in an editorial commenting on the Canadian election fight. "They have smarted, and understandably so, at any implication of 'junior partnership' with either Great Britain or the United States."

'Frustrated'

The Star suggests also that Canadians are gripped by a mood of national frustration and restlessness which the election may help to dispel.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's charge that the opposition engaged in delaying tactics in Parliament and that this is one reason for an early election is seen by the Star as one aspect of this frustration.

BOLD SEAT

But the prime minister's expressed reason for calling for the vote "suffers from the fact that Mr. Diefenbaker's Progressive Conservatives hold 208 seats in the House while the Liberals control only 52."

Remorse

LINDSEY, England (UPI)—A cat that killed a rabbit here today was reported nursing the rabbit's young.

A-Tests Start Any Day Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Tuesday gave the final okay for a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere. The shots are expected to begin in the Pacific within a few days, perhaps less.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced the tests will begin "as soon as is operationally feasible."

No More Than Pleads

UNITED NATIONS (AP)

—Acting Secretary-General U Thant urged the nuclear powers Tuesday to refrain from further test explosions of nuclear weapons.

Thant said the UN General Assembly had stated its views clearly in opposition to further nuclear testing. "I cannot go beyond that," he declared, "but I think it is quite proper for me to appeal to all concerned to refrain from tests on the basis of the general assembly resolution."

The biggest test is expected to be in the 10-megaton range, equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of TNT. This would be considerably smaller than the 50-megaton device the Russians were reported to have exploded in their Arctic tests last fall.

The initial explosion probably will be low altitude shots and are likely to be conducted in the Johnston Island area, followed by high altitude tests in the Johnston Island area in May.

Missile Success Explodes

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—The success strings of two U.S. military missiles—Minuteman and Pershing—ended abruptly in a pair of spectacular explosions Tuesday.

The Minuteman blasted out of an underground silo Tuesday night on an intended 4,000-mile test flight and some 40 seconds later blew apart. Huge hunks of flaming debris splashed into the Atlantic Ocean just offshore.

Several hours earlier, a Pershing military missile zipped off the cape and met the same fate. It went off course and was destroyed by the safety officer.

The failures snapped a seven-shot success streak for the Minuteman, all from the silo, and a 13-in-a-row record for the Pershing.

WILL HOLD GOOD

Administration officials stress that Kennedy's offer to join in a test-ban pact against testing will hold good until the last minute.

The Atomic Energy Commission statement said:

"The Atomic Energy Commission announced today that President Kennedy has authorized the commission and the department of defense to proceed with a series of nuclear weapons tests in the atmosphere over the Pacific."

"The tests, to be conducted by Joint Task Force 3 under the command of Maj.-Gen. A. D. Starbird, will begin as soon as is operationally feasible."

AMERICAN AND BRITISH DEMANDS

for an international inspection system to safeguard a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin told United States Ambassador Arthur Dean and British Minister of State Joseph Godber the negotiations for a test-ban agreement "will come to an inglorious end" if the Western powers maintain their control demands.

Neither Tsarapkin nor the two Western delegates referred to the forthcoming U.S. atomic test series in the Pacific. Macmillan will be in the Dupont Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin threatened last week when he heads for Ottawa.

Macmillan Resigned

LONDON (CP-AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan heads for the United States and Canada today, reported to be resigned to resumed U.S. nuclear testing but hoping to find ways to getting the stalled Geneva disarmament talks back on the rails. Macmillan will be in the United States until Sunday, when he heads for Ottawa.
